Better Conditions Reduce Calls On RFC Funds

ESTIMATES OF BUDGET FALL SHORT

Less Than Half Appropriated for Relief Needs Used at Present Time
BANKS REPAY LOANS
More Than $3,000,000 Being Paid Back Daily According to Late Report

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 23.—(UP)—The government's most important relief agency—the reconstruction finance corporation—is falling nearly $2,000,000,000 under budget estimates in its relief activities because of reduced needs.

Administration officials attributed the decrease to the greater than expected improvement in business activity which has allowed some borrowers to repay loans and made it unnecessary for other businesses to ask for money.

When President Roosevelt compiled his budget figures for the fiscal year which ends June 30, he set $3,969,740,000 as the outside net expenditures of the RFC, a monthly average of $325,000,000.

In nine months of the fiscal year the RFC had actually spent only $1,287,354,890, or about 40 cents for every dollar estimated in the budget.

Under Estimates
At this rate it was estimated that net expenditures would amount to $1,716,000,000, or $253,000,000 under estimates. It would appear that Chairman Jesse H. Jones' recent estimate that RFC expenses would fall a half a billion under the budget was extremely conservative.

The extent to which the business improvement has permitted a curtailment of government relief is indicated by the RFC expenditures. More than half of the government's relief money was slated to be paid out through the RFC. Expenditures for relief through other agencies such as public works, emergency conservation and Tennessee valley also are far under estimates but show more money has been spent than by the RFC.

Banks and other borrowers are repaying loans at the rate of $3,000,000 daily and these payments are expected to reach the billion dollar mark by June 30, compared with estimates of three-quarter billion dollars. In the first nine months they were $267,330,234.

The apparent "surplus" under proposed expenditures has made the federal government's borrowing program that much easier and has contributed to the recent steady rise in the government bond market. Whether this "surplus" would be used for other relief activities of the government depends on the sentiment in congress toward appropriating of government money for rehabilitation of the building industry or in establishment of a new system of semi-government banks to make direct loans to business.

The chief factor in the decrease in RFC expenditures has been improvement in the banking field partly as a result of confidence engendered by the federal deposit insurance corporation.

A total of $1,350,000,000 of RFC money set aside for purchase of preferred stock and capital notes in banks to strengthen capital has been only half used and only a portion of the sum set aside for loans to closed banks has been used.

OHIO ATHLETE IS REPORTED KIDNAPED

FINDLAY, O., April 23.—(UP)—The abandoned automobile of Donald Schoonover, 21, former athlete of Liberty Township High school, Hancock county, was found near the youth's home early today.

A note found in the car by Sheriff Lyle Harvitt said Schoonover had been kidnapped for almost $10,000 ransom.

The note was crudely written, and said further instructions for paying the money would be given Schoonover's family today.

WIRT CHARGES TUGWELL REAL TRUST PLOTTER

Indiana Educator Asserts Tugwell is Motivating Force Behind Plan

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)
CARY, Ind., April 23.—(UP)—Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell today was charged openly by Dr. William A. Wirt with being the "real plotter of the brain trust's planned revolution."

The 50-year-old Gary educator's belated blast at the young assistant secretary of agriculture was made during an interview with the United Press a few hours after Tugwell in Washington had condemned what he termed the "misrepresentations" of his critics.

"I regard Prof. Tugwell as the motivating force behind the plan to overthrow our established American liberties," Dr. Wirt said, reviewing his charges that the "brain trusters" were plotting to overthrow the government and set up a Stalin. "He is the real brains of the brain trust. The others are satellites."

A moment later, however, he soothed the directness of his attack on Tugwell by referring to him as the "rightful leader of the young intellectuals" surrounding President Roosevelt.

"I don't agree with him and I am openly opposed to his planned economic which usurp the fundamental liberties of the American people," the Hoosier schoolmaster said. "But I am forced to respect his directness, by which he has earned his place of leadership."

"I don't know that he is dangerous in himself. It's the general scheme of which the people have been unaware until recently, that is dangerous."

"If the people had been given an opportunity to approve or disapprove the brain trust's scheme and sanctioned it, then I would not have opposed it. But I disagree with Tugwell when he says that the American people are aware of the changing conditions in governmental affairs and had an opportunity to express their opinion."

Asked why he did not place blame for his alleged "red plot" upon Tugwell during the congressional investigation in Washington, Dr. Wirt said he wasn't allowed to go into his theories.

"All they apparently want to do," he said, referring to those whom he listed as having informed him of the so-called communistic plot.

MRS. MASSIE SOON WILL BE RELEASED

GENOA, Italy, April 23.—(UP)—Mrs. Thelma Massie, unfortunate central figure in the Honolulu assault case, who tried to kill herself in despair, has been regenerated and will be released shortly as a "different woman." It was officially announced today.

Dr. Emilio Borelli, head of the mental clinic where she has been under treatment, reported to the king's procurator that nearly three weeks of rest in the friendly atmosphere of the Italian villa has given her a new outlook on life.

Dr. Borelli filed a report in accordance with Italian health laws after her detention at the villa Sanitas clinic, where she has been since April 5.

RECOVER 60 BODIES IN BELGRADE MINE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 23.—(UP)—Thirty six hours of rescue work had yielded bodies of sixty men from the Kakaj mine today, and it was feared that 76 still in the mine must be dead.

Officials announced they had overestimated the number of men in the mine when an explosion occurred Saturday, and that actually there were believed to have been 161, of whom 15 saved themselves and 10 were rescued.

Believed To Be En Route To St. Paul

Desperado and Gang Forces Federal Agents to Retreat Before Fire

BULLETIN
ST. PAUL, Minn., April 23.—(UP)—The Ford V-8 coupe used by John Dillinger and two outlaw companions was found abandoned six miles south of South St. Paul today. The inside was covered with blood.

ST. PAUL, April 23.—(UP)—St. Paul and Dakota county police today engaged in a running gun battle with an automobile bearing three men, one of them believed to be John Dillinger.

The automobile was identified as one of those used by the outlaws who fled from the Little Bohemia lodge near Eagle River, Wis., last night.

Police here reported that the three occupants of the automobile who fired on Deputy Sheriff Heinemann and his companion near St. Paul were Dillinger, Tommy Carroll, a Dillinger gangster, and another man whom they had not identified.

They were being closely pursued by three automobile loads of police armed with machine guns and other weapons.

Fifteen Minneapolis squad cars were sent from Minneapolis with all men armed with rifles and machine guns. The Minneapolis police joined the pursuit at the request of federal authorities here.

The automobile was first sighted near Grantsburg, Wis., when Heinemann fired two shots and the occupants of the car returned his fire.

20 Bullet Marks
Heinemann examined his own car before sending in an alarm to St. Paul police and found about 20 bullet marks. The marks indicated, he said, that those in the fleeing car were using machine guns.

He telephoned St. Paul for reinforcements and two squad cars were sent. St. Paul forces had been alerted earlier in the day when police cars were ordered to meet near Wisconsin, to hunt for the outlaws. Continued calls over the police radio brought the added assistance of 15 squad cars from Minneapolis.

Heinemann reported the license on the Ford to be 92-652. A check revealed they were issued to Robert L. Johnson, of Manitowish, Wis., from which vicinity Dillinger and his gangsters fled last night after three gun battles in which from two to four men were killed and eight wounded.

The fleeing automobile was last seen at Afton, Minn., about eight miles from St. Paul Park, which is about 10 miles south of St. Paul.

Escape Trap

John Dillinger and a half-dozen machine gun outlaws escaped from a department of justice trap at Little Bohemia lodge in Wisconsin after three gun battles in which four men were killed and three wounded.

Federal agents who stormed the lodge at dawn captured three women who were with the outlaws.

FISHER BODY WORKERS OUT POSTS TODAY

Thousands Walk Out in What May Cause Strike of Entire Auto Industry

CLEVELAND, April 23.—(UP)—Thousands of Fisher Body Corporation workers walked out of the Cleveland plant today in a strike which, it was feared, may cause the entire automobile labor tinder-box to flame anew.

The walkout, originally voted in secret ballot on March 8, was ordered into effect at 7 a. m. today after breakdown in negotiations seeking recognition of the United Automobile Workers' Federal Union.

Simultaneously, some 3100 employees of the Fisher Body and Chevrolet Assembly plants at St. Louis were scheduled to walk out.

Approximately 4800 of the 5000 men employed at the local plant are claimed as members of the union, which is affiliated with the A. F. of L. The remainder of the workers are for the most part members of a recently organized company union.

Picketing of the plant was begun immediately. No city police were detailed to remain at the plant, but several squads were held in readiness in nearby stations.

Pickets massed 25-deep around the 10 plant entrances at 7 a. m. when 4000 men of the dayshift usually start work. The union claimed only foremen were allowed through the lines and that operation of the huge plant was virtually at a standstill.

L. R. Scafe, plant manager, denied that work had stopped, claimed that 300 men were working and that operations would proceed.

"We will operate," Scafe said. "We shall call on police to furnish escorts for our workers. If they cannot furnish ample protection, we will get our own. We shall not consider union demands because they are ridiculous, and we won't deal with the A. F. of L. However, we will negotiate with our own workers in the plant."

The strike came as culmination of months of unstable labor relations in the automotive industry, and as aftermath of the Washington settlement providing for the automobile labor board, now sitting in Detroit.

In addition to recognition of the union, strikers demand a 30 per cent increase in wages, time and a half for overtime and double time on Sunday.

GASOLINE REVENUES IN STATE INCREASE

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Exceeding the figure for any month of 1933, March gasoline taxes reached a total of $4,043,511.61, according to an announcement made here today by Richard E. Collins of Redding, chairman of the state board of equalization. This marks an increase over the tax for the same month of last year amounting to $794,594.33, or a gain of 24.4 per cent.

"Only three times before in the history of the California gasoline tax," said Collins, "has the levy for a single month exceeded $4,000,000. In the months of May and June, 1931, the tax was a few thousand dollars over that figure, and again in the month of June, 1932, it exceeded that amount."

Throughout the year 1933, the monthly tax fell short of that total.

MAISON MOORED AT MIAMI
MIAMI, Fla., April 23.—(UP)—The giant naval dirigible Macon will make the Miami mooring this morning and will participate in naval maneuvers over South Atlantic waters, it was announced today.

The dirigible after what officers termed an "uneventful" trip from its Sunnyvale, Calif., base, settled to its mooring at 6:15 last night after a two-hour flight over the city.

PRINCIPALS IN LOCAL SLAYING

Left to right below are N. D. Meyer, (photo by Rundell) Santa Ana attorney; Mrs. Flora Cervantes Shoemaker, and Millard Line, who was shot to death early Sunday morning at Meyer's ranch home in Santa Ana canyon. The slaying was the result of a long feud over the affections of Mrs. Shoemaker. Meyer claimed he shot in self defense when Line came to his ranch home and attempted to break in. Meyer was released on his own recognizance.

ORDER BATTLE FLEET THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

Censorship Clamped Down and Merchants Protest "Quick Transit"

PANAMA, Canal Zone, April 23.—(UP)—After clamping down a censorship comparable in some degree to that of wartime, the U. S. fleet today prepared for a "quick transit" from west to east through the Panama canal.

Meanwhile, the army was guarding the canal locks night and day. The order for the hasty transit came from Admiral David F. Sellers, but feeling was general in Balboa and in fleet circles that he acted upon advice from Washington.

A grand welcome planned for the fleet in the canal zone was turned into a state of mourning as merchants complained they had stocked heavily with goods and feared loss of thousands of dollars, which the sailors would have spent on shore leave. Some of them declared they faced bankruptcy.

Society circles of Balboa also had comment to make on the fact that Admiral Sellers canceled the attendance of officers at the governor's reception scheduled for tonight. It was said that if orders for the fleet transit came direct from Washington, the cancellation would be taken as unavoidable.

In a statement given to the press, Admiral Sellers referred to the quick transit as part of the general maneuver plan. The fleet will participate in maneuvers off Miami, Fla., with the dirigible Macon. Later it will steam east to be reviewed by President Franklin Roosevelt.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—(UP)—Reaffirming a belief that its $21,100,000 annual natural gas reduction order against the Pacific Gas and Electric company was "fair and just," the state railroad commission today rejected the company's offer to compromise the controversy at approximately half that amount.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(UP)—The house today beat down an attempt to force action on the McLeod bank deposit "payoff" bill by tabling a resolution which was designed to bring the measure up immediately under the petition route. The vote was 227 to 122.

KILLS WIFE THEN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

PASADENA, Cal., April 23.—(UP)—Placing a 12-gauge shotgun against his wife's body, George E. Willett, 52, an interior decorator, fired a fatal charge early today and then inflicted wounds on his head which may bring death, according to police reports.

A son, returning home failed to get a response to his repeated knocking, (and looking through a bedroom window, saw his mother, Mrs. Myrtle N. Willett, 30, dead on the floor and his father lying nearby, still grasping the gun.

LIFE RESTORED TO DOG AFTER BEING KILLED

Berkeley Scientist Keeps Fox Terrier Alive for Ten Days to Date

BERKELEY, Cal., April 23.—(UP)—A fox terrier dog, killed and then brought back to life, has been kept alive for 10 days, it was revealed here today by Dr. Robert E. Cornish, University of California research assistant, who is attempting to effect a permanent revival from the dead.

Dr. Cornish said he killed the dog on Friday, April 13, by applying nitrogen as a surgical anesthetic. The dog was dead for four minutes. Then he opened a vein and injected a solution composed of another dog's blood, heparin, to keep blood from clotting, and adrenalin, to speed heart action.

Inhalation treatment was then applied to pump air into the dog's lungs. A half minute after the inhalation started the dog's heart began to beat, feebly at first, but then faster and stronger. Two minutes later the dog gasped and started to breathe.

Other such experiments with dogs failed because the hearts had pumped so violently that delicate organisms were worn out. For this terrier, Dr. Cornish was prepared. Whenever he noted a quickening of the heart action, he immediately applied a solution of gum-arabic, which kept the heart subdued.

Last Wednesday, Dr. Cornish raised a window shade in his dark little laboratory and admitted light for the first time. The dog blinked and stretched as the sunlight shown into his eyes.

Today it still was unconscious, but it did to slight pin pricks on the ears by wiggling them. Dr. Cornish feeds the animal small portions of gruel, milk and eggs, which he places in the dog's mouth, and which the dog swallows.

"The experiment is a decided success," Dr. Cornish said. "We are hoping the dog regains complete consciousness, its nerve centers are functioning and we have hopes."

Dr. Cornish said that if he is able to restore the dog to consciousness, he has a real on to believe his method will revive persons who die from heart disease, drowning, electrocution, fright, or similar circumstances.

He has attempted to revive humans with a teeter-board, but something was lacking and he turned to dogs to increase his knowledge.

FIRST LADY IN CHALLENGE TO U. S. SENATOR

Issues Statement Denying Solon's Charges Concerning Factories

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today invited Sen. Thomas B. Schall, R., Minn., to the White House to challenge a statement he made concerning the Reedsville, W. V., farm factory and the Val-Kill Furniture factory at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Schall did not appear after Mrs. Roosevelt waited two hours. The president's wife has a financial interest in the Hyde Park factory and has been active in sponsoring the Reedsville project.

Her denial of Schall's statement was made when the senator did not appear at the White House more than an hour after Mrs. Roosevelt said he promised to see her.

"The denunciation," Schall's statement said, "of Dr. Wirt because he labeled Mrs. Roosevelt's attempt to build a furniture factory at Reedsville, with $25,000,000 of the taxpayers' money, a communistic enterprise, is interesting in view of recent developments in connection with Mrs. Roosevelt's Hyde Park furniture factory."

"Mrs. Roosevelt's factory at Hyde Park produces furniture with her name autographed on it. The prices as quoted are five times the charge made for similar furniture produced by other factories and from this we must assume her autograph as the wife of the president of the United States may make the difference."

Issues Statement
"Hotels about the country are being besought by furniture salesmen to install these suits and call them the 'Roosevelt suite.' I am told one of them is now in the Powhatan hotel in Washington in Chicago. If the profit of these suits is only $1000 each and through super-salesmanship Mrs. Roosevelt only sells 1000 hotels this year, certainly the Hyde Park plant will not be able to supply the demand. Therefore the count-

NOTED DIVA DEFIES THREATS OF DEATH

NEW YORK, April 23.—(UP)—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, 72-year-old opera singer, defied a death threat last night to sing at a concert held by the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league.

She did not reveal the threat, conveyed by letter as she entered Carnegie Hall, until after she had finished singing.

Then she announced it and was cheered wildly. The letter was delivered at the theater before the performance, and was handed to Mme. Schumann-Heink when she arrived to sing. Written in German, it said:

"You should not sing for Jews. Germans have suffered from them for 20 years. Had the Jews been let alone they would have made Germany communistic. If you sing for them you will be killed. Take warning."

"True Friends of Germany."

FEUD OVER BEAUTY ENDS IN TRAGEDY

N. D. Meyer Kills Laborer at Ranch Home Claiming It Self Defense

RECEIVED THREATS

Quarrel in Dance Hall and Hof Brau Cafe in S. A., Climaxed Early Sunday

CLIMAXING a feud of many months over the love of a wealthy Spanish beauty and featured by threats in a Santa Ana dance hall and a brawl in the Hof Brau cafe, N. D. Meyer, 44, well-known Santa Ana attorney, shot and killed Millard Line, 29, Orange laborer, at the Meyer ranch home near Atwood early Sunday morning.

Both men sought the companionship of Mrs. Flora Cervantes Shoemaker, 35, member of a pioneer Orange county family and owner of a large citrus ranch south of Orange. Line said to be insanely jealous of Meyer after the lawyer met Mrs. Shoemaker, followed the couple to Meyer's home and was shot twice near the heart while trying to break in the house, according to Meyer's statement given to authorities.

Meyer was held for investigation of homicide after many hours of grilling yesterday at the office of Sheriff Logan Jackson, but was released on his own recognizance pending the coroner's inquest, which will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. from the Shannon Funeral home in Orange.

Lived In Fear
Both Meyer and Mrs. Shoemaker declared that they have lived in constant fear of their lives for several months, since Line made threats against them on many occasions. They said they were forced to avoid public gatherings for fear Line would start trouble. Several weeks ago, Line broke into Mrs. Shoemaker's home while Meyer was there, and beat him severely, it was said, and Orange police were called to take him away.

Events leading up to the fatal shooting started at the dance in the Santa Ana auditorium at Fourth and Van Ness streets, near midnight Saturday. Meyer alleged that he had been engaged by the dance management to represent them in legal proceedings arising from municipal regulation of dance hall and cafe, and said he wished to confer with the owner that evening.

Line accused Meyer and Mrs. Shoemaker on the dance floor and demanded to dance with her. She accepted the invitation, to prevent a quarrel, she told officers, and while dancing with him, was warned that he was "going to get Nick tonight." Marvin Meyer, 22, son of the attorney and with his father throughout the evening, heard the warning and both he and Mrs. Shoemaker told Meyer of it, they said.

Invited Outside
Near the end of the dance, Meyer said Line asked him to come outside and "fight it out" but Meyer refused, knowing that he could not cope with Line's great physical strength.

"When the dance broke up at midnight, we left hurriedly to avoid further trouble and went across the street to the Hof Brau cafe," Meyer said. "We joined a party of friends at a large table only a few minutes before a fight started at a nearby table. During the scuffle, Line approached my table as if to fight but someone hit him on the head with a beer bottle before anything else happened," said Meyer.

try will need more furniture factories.

"Certainly these Roosevelts are big business folks."

Mrs. Roosevelt, arriving at her scheduled press conference late, said:

"I am sorry to be late, but I was waiting for Senator Schall. I telephoned him at 9:15 this morning and asked him to come to see me because I wanted to say to him first what I am going to say in this press conference. He agreed to be here at 10:30. I waited until after 11 and he did not come."

Denies Report
"I want you to make it clear that I did not want to say what I am going to say without first saying it to him because I am not on the senate floor and I haven't senatorial immunity."

Reading Senator Schall's statement, Mrs. Roosevelt then outlined the following as inaccuracies:

It was never intended to spend $25,000,000 of the taxpayers' money on any factory anywhere;

It was never intended to put up the furniture factory at Redwoodville, as the project there was to be a small factory employing 125 to 200 people to make postoffice letter boxes, which Mrs. Roosevelt said would hardly be classed as furniture;

Mrs. Roosevelt's factory at Hyde Park makes only hand made furniture, thus accounting for the price Schall said was five times the price of similar furniture made elsewhere. It has no salesmen, it has sold no furniture to hotels and Mrs. Roosevelt's autograph is stamped on the furniture only at the request of the purchaser who pays no higher price for an autographed piece.

Mrs. Roosevelt said her factory has a capacity of only 22 employees and thus could not provide furniture for a room in each of 1000 hotels at a profit of $1,000 per room as Schall suggested.

She said she had not been able to ascertain whether the Palmer House in Chicago had bought any Val-Kill furniture from a Chicago department store, but she had ascertained that the Potomac hotel here has never bought any and never had been asked to buy.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, April 23. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well, we just got over "Be Kind to Animals Week" so now you can start again writing to your Congressman. Saturday President Roosevelt had at the White House his graduating class of Harvard 1904. There was over 300 of 'em, and all Republicans. I think he was just quietly rubbing it in on 'em, for the press couldn't name a one of 'em that anybody had ever heard of. I think F. D., with his usual sense of humor, was just in a subtle way impressing on the boys, "If there hadn't been a Democrat in the class, youse guys would never have got to even see the inside of the White House." It only illustrates that every Harvard class should have one Democrat to rescue it from oblivion.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

COUNTY EMPLOYEES' PICNIC TOMORROW

S. A. ATTORNEY SLAYS RIVAL TO END FEUD

Emergency calls for police assistance had been sent out when the fight started about 1 a. m. and Officers W. E. B. Sherwood, F. L. Grouard and William Heard were called by radio. When they arrived, Lipe was in the cafe kitchen being treated for head wounds. The officers took Lipe, Harry M. Stoner of Olive and Kenneth W. Harris, 26, 232 Fifth street, Garden Grove, to the police station for questioning.

Had Been Drinking
Although the men had been drinking, according to officers, they soon were released and Harris took Lipe to the Orange County hospital for treatment of head injuries received in the fight. After he left the hospital, Lipe is reported to have attempted to enter a nearby cafe on the 101 highway but was refused admission by Officer John Elliott of Orange, who was on duty there, because, Elliott said, he was intoxicated and disheveled.

While Lipe and his companions were being questioned by police, Mrs. Shoemaker and Marvin Meyer drove to Meyer's home near Atwood, since Mrs. Shoemaker said she was afraid to stay alone at her home. Elizabeth Meyer, 18, junior college student and daughter of Meyer, was ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dick Sanders, 1011 West Chestnut street, and there were no accommodations there for Mrs. Shoemaker, Meyer said.

At the Meyer ranch home, Meyer and his son retired in one bedroom while Mrs. Shoemaker occupied another, the statement of officers revealed.

Unknown to them, Lipe had forced Harris to drive him to the Meyer home, "so that Lipe could find out from Meyer who hit him with the bottle in the Hof Brau," it was said by Harris.

At Ranch Home

About 3:45 a. m. there was a loud knock on the front door of the Meyer home and someone shouted, "I'm the law," Meyer reported.

"What's your name?" Meyer countered.

"I want to find the Meyer ranch," the visitor said.

Meyer, thinking it was Lipe, then directed the man to the house next door, in the meantime rousing his son and getting guns for both of them. He ran out the back door and to the nearby home of Stanford Koeppe, Santa Ana lawyer, seeking assistance. Koeppe promised to come over and Meyer walked back to the front of his house, believing that Lipe had joined Harris in his car, he said.

Instead, Lipe was at the front door attempting to break it down, Meyer said. "If you don't let me in, I'll come in and get you," Lipe shouted, according to the story of Mrs. Shoemaker.

At about the time Meyer reached the front corner of the house according to his statement, Lipe broke in the front door and started in the house. He then turned, saw Meyer, and started for him. "I'll get you, Meyer," he is reported to have said, as he flung back the screen door.

Fires at Lipe
"I fired at him and then realized I had hit him," Meyer told officers. "He ran toward the car in the road and fell to the ground."

The gun was a .32 caliber revolver.

Harris told officers he could hear indistinct conversation near the house, heard two shots, and then saw Lipe running toward him, gasping, "I've been shot twice below the heart."

Harris and Marvin Meyer put Lipe in the car and rushed him to the county hospital, nearly 10 miles away, but Lipe had been fatally wounded and died en route. Meyer followed soon after with Koeppe and was taken in technical custody by Deputy Sheriffs Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey at the hospital.

He was quizzed at the sheriff's office by Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton, Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner, Dean, McKelvey, Deputy Coroner Bert Casteix and other officers.

Feared For Life
Mrs. Shoemaker, when interviewed by The Register last night at the home of her sister in the Santa Ana canyon, said she had lived in constant fear for her life ever since she told Lipe that he would have to quit seeing her, that she felt friendship where he thought there was love. She said she had known him from childhood and had a very high regard for his mother and family, but that she wished to remain just friends.

"He often told me he adored me, he worshipped me, but he tried to intimidate me into returning his affection. That crushed what little feeling of respect I had for him," she said.

"I have carried a gun for a long time and was taught how to use it by my father, Theo. Cervantes, one of the early settlers of Orange and later a deputy sheriff and Long Beach police officer. I stopped carrying it several months ago, however, after Millard threatened to kill me. I was afraid I might have to use it on him and I felt I would rather have him kill me than I be the one to take a life."

"I really think that Millard would have killed both of us last night. He was powerful enough to have killed both of us with his hands. When he broke down the door and Nick shot him, I know it was in self-defense."

Mrs. Shoemaker resides on Cambridge road south of Orange and manages the orange ranch of her husband, Glenn Shoemaker, who has been ill in the Sawtelle hospital for three years. She has been married 10 years and is the sister-in-law of Clyde Shoemaker, well-known Los Angeles attorney. Her forbears were among the first settlers in Orange county and have been prominently identified with its development for five generations.

DILLINGER AND GANG GET AWAY AFTER BATTLE

The notorious Dillinger was being hunted by scores of department of justice men and county residents in the woods between the Lodge and Mantolowish, Wis. He and his men escaped from the lodge shortly after a second gun battle with the federals at dawn.

The night's fighting brought seven casualties, including one civilian conservation corps youth who was killed, and two of his companions who were wounded. First word of the outlaws' escape came from Margaret McGregor, daughter of Sheriff Thomas McGregor, of Eagle River. McGregor called his daughter with word of the final raid.

"All but three women got away," he told his daughter. "Four men are dead and three wounded. The gangsters are supposed to be up near Manitowish."

Among the dead were Eugene Boleseneau, the CCC worker and W. Carter Baum, federal agent from Chicago. The other deaths were said to have been inflicted in the ranks of the combined federal agents and possemen.

Raid On Lodge
The final raid on the lodge in which the gangsters had been holed-up during the night came at dawn. Under the fire of possemen, federal agents crept to the doors of the lodge and forced them open. They first set gas bombs into the building and then retreated.

After half an hour, three women came out with their hands in the air. The agents learned from them that Dillinger and the others had escaped about 3 a. m. The agents entered the building and searched it without finding any additional persons.

Although officers believed Dillinger and three others escaped while federal agents were caring for the wounded after the 2 a. m. battle, at least two members of the gang broke to freedom before midnight.

The pair forced a youth employed at the lodge to drive them to Park Falls, where they commandeered another automobile and fled southward. This car was last seen at Antigo, Wis., speeding southward.

The pair was able to escape because of a misfire in the federal plans. A score of agents arrived at the lodge about 10 a. m. They surrounded the place and prepared to enter.

At this point Boleseneau, John Hoffman and John Morris, all CCC camp members, came out of the lodge after drinking beer there.

Challenge Youths
The federal agents challenged the youths and they refused to stop their automobile. Machine gun bullets ripped into their car, killing Boleseneau and wounding the other two. While the agents swarmed in pursuit of the wildly careening automobile, two members of the Dillinger gang were able to escape. Agents were uncertain whether several other gang members also escaped into the woods at this time.

When the agents again concentrated on the lodge they found enough Dillinger gang guns flaming at them to force a retreat. Baum was found to be shot fatally and Carl Christiansen, Spider Lake constable, was wounded critically.

The officers sent the wounded men to the Ironwood, Mich., hospital and spread an alarm for the pair of bandits which escaped. Throughout this and surrounding counties, resort-keepers, farmers and their hired men were deputized and armed.

Roads were blocked off the reinforcements sent to the lodge. Sheriffs Thomas McGregor of Eagle River and the federal agents led another rally into the lodge building at 2:30 a. m. Again federal agents were struck and as far as could be ascertained the gangsters went unscathed. Again the agents were forced to retire.

At daybreak the third raid was ordered. When it was found that the principal quarry had vanished, county authorities ordered a manhunt. Skirmish lines were formed and scores of men were sent toward Manitowish.

Seize Resort
The trap was believed to have resulted from the intensive campaign department of justice agents have been waging to catch the desperado. Half a dozen federal agents were reported to have appeared here Sunday morning and to have driven to the lodge.

The building was known to be owned by Emil Wanetka, former Chicago night club owner and said to be an intimate of Frankie Lake and other Chicago bootleggers. It was believed the agents might have found Dillinger's hiding place through questioning of Evelyn Freshchett, his former sweetheart, who was being held in St. Paul or from a sister of John Hamilton, with whom the outlaws were known to have been staying until last Thursday.

With Dillinger, it was believed, were Hamilton, Joseph Fox, Homer Van Meter and possibly members of a St. Paul gang of bank robbers and kidnapers. Some of these men were wanted for questioning in the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul.

MRS. VANDERBILT IS CALLED BY DEATH

NEW YORK, April 24.—(UP)—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt sr., dowager leader of eastern society during one of its most glittering periods a generation ago and a descendant of one of America's oldest families, died last night in her palatial 67th street home.

Mrs. Vanderbilt probably was past the four-score year mark. One daughter, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, was at her bedside. Two other children, the Countess Leslie Szechenyi and Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, were reported returning today.

Funeral plans were held up. Mrs. Vanderbilt's name was synonymous for more than half a century with blue ribbon society and leading philanthropies in New York. Both at her home here and at The Breakers, her fashionable summer home in Newport, she led an exclusive social life tinged with an aura of mystery.

With an estimated total damage of $700, a fire swept the large garage at the home of Clyde Rowland, 336 West Nineteenth street, about 8 o'clock last night.

The blaze had gained great headway before firemen were called and the building and contents were a total loss. A delivery truck used in Rowland's sign painting business, valued at $200, was destroyed. Insurance covered the garage and contents but not the car, it was reported.

Firemen noticed the blaze from the station and were preparing to leave when the alarm was sounded. Fire Chief John Luxembourger declared that so many motorists crowded to the scene that fire fighting activities were seriously hampered. He announced that police would join in a campaign to arrest persons coming too close to fires in the future.

Patrol Officer Marries In Yuma

Announcing that he will move to Santa Ana early in the summer with his bride, California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge has revealed to his friends that he was married to Mrs. Edith White of Orange, in Yuma, Arizona, last Wednesday.

Inge and his bride were accompanied to Arizona by Constable George Bartley of Orange. They are making their home in Orange for the present, where Inge formerly was a member of the Orange police department.

Restoration of regular mail deliveries in the residential and business sections of Santa Ana was announced today by L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails at the Santa Ana postoffice.

Under orders received at the local postoffice, full service was resumed today after curtailment of service on orders received on March 2.

Carriers will make two trips in the residential sections of the city and three trips daily in the business section of the city, starting today.

In order to carry out the orders received in March, the 47 regular employees affected gave up a day's work each month, while six sub-work each month, and carriers were deprived of all work.

Superintendent of Mails Harvey distributed the extra work occasioned by the curtailment of service among regular employees during the furlough period just ended, making as many deliveries a day as was possible.

INSURANCE MAN TO SPEAK
F. A. Henderson, manager of the Fire Insurance Companies' Adjustment Bureau, of Los Angeles, will be the featured speaker at the regular weekly meeting of Santa Ana Rotary club tomorrow noon in James' cafe. It was announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley.

The speaker will be introduced by Mac O. Robbins, who will act as program chairman of the day. Henderson will discuss the important phases of property insurance.

Better Conditions In Farm Districts
Farmers of Kansas and the middle west have almost forgotten the depression because of the best wheat crop in years, according to O. S. Johnston, of the Johnston Business and Secretarial school who has just returned from a trip through that district.

Johnston reported that he visited several banks and found them all "full of money" and looking for places to loan it. Merchants also are cheerful and are looking forward to an especially profitable year, Johnston said.

FORD WINS AGAIN

SPECTACULAR "TARGA FLORIO" IS THIRD FORD TRIUMPH IN YEAR!

Three times within a year Ford V-8's have swept to victory in important A. A. A. stock-car competitions. At Elgin's National Stock Car Race last August, seven Fords took the first seven places. Then a Ford V-8 led nine other Fords to all winning places in the recent Gilmore Gold Cup Classic. And now the Targa Florio, toughest of them all, is added to the list of Ford triumphs—proof positive of the Ford V-8's stamina and dependability under all conditions.

It took far more than speed to win this race. There were steep hills to climb—22% grades—and steeper ones to descend. There were hairpin curves and mile upon mile of jolting straightaways. These severe tests called for the same qualities that are important to every car owner! Safe brakes! Rigid front axle! Ample power! Quick pickup! Rugged construction!

DRIVERS OF 2 CARS ARRESTED AFTER CRASHES

Although only two persons were injured seriously, 12 persons were hurt in the six week end accidents reported to hospitals and police. Two motorists were arrested after accidents in which they were involved.

Seven persons riding in a small roadster were thrown to the pavement and injured at 1 a. m. today in a head-on collision two miles north of the Orange County hospital on the 101 highway. The cars were driven by William G. Cameron, 21, Los Angeles, and W. A. Rice, Orange.

Miss Marjorie Shaw, 19, 318 South Lemon street, Anaheim, one of the seven riding in the Cameron car, suffered a fractured leg, hip injury and severe lacerations and is confined in the county hospital. Others hurt were Ruby Showalter, 19, 250 South Grand avenue, Orange, lacerations of the scalp and ankle; Theodore Barton, 29, Los Angeles, lacerations of the scalp, chin and hand; W. E. Cameron, lacerations of the scalp; George King, 23, Los Angeles, lacerations of the scalp; Margaret Kearns, Anaheim and Bob Harris, Anaheim. All were treated at the hospital.

Conception Navarro, 18, and Christine Morales, 33, both of Los Angeles, were hurt last night in a wreck between Anaheim and Fullerton, on which no report has been made. Miss Navarro suffered concussion and lacerations about the face and head and is confined in the Orange County hospital. The other woman was given first aid treatment for lacerations on the left foot.

Car Turns Over
No one was injured but several persons were endangered in a spectacular three-car collision at North Main street and Santa Ana boulevard at 9:15 o'clock Saturday night. Cars involved were driven by Mrs. Nancy L. Latham, 442 Riverside street, Albert A. Teitheid, Glendora and Dr. J. A. Farrage, 2675 North Main street. According to police reports, the Farrage machine struck the Latham machine and then was hit by the Teitheid automobile. All three cars were badly damaged and Dr. Farrage's car turned over, coming to a stop upside down in the middle of the street.

Three Fullerton women were painfully injured early yesterday morning in Anaheim when their automobile was forced into a light standard at Vermont and South Los Angeles streets by another car that did not stop after the accident, according to a report to the Anaheim police. The injured were Doty Adams, broken wrist; Mrs. John Fallert, sprained wrist; and Evelyn Fallert, bruised nose and arm.

According to Miss Fallert, who was driving the automobile in which the injured women were riding, she was forced to drive her automobile into a light post to avoid a collision with another automobile that was driving straight at her machine. The car said to be responsible for the accident was described as a dark colored coupe and did not stop after the crash. The injured women were removed to their homes after receiving first aid from a physician.

Two Arrested
J. R. McCann, 34, was arrested Saturday night following an automobile accident at the intersection of North and Palm streets in Anaheim and booked at the city jail on a charge of being intoxicated. Charges of driving drunk may be filed against him according to information given the police. McCann was released from jail yesterday after posting $50 bail.

McCann was taken into custody after his automobile was reported as having been involved in an accident with a car driven by Pete Boyd.

Wesley Wall, movie stage designer, was arrested after a car crash at 2:30 o'clock at the Gilgillo Funeral home.

GIRL BURGLAR WAIVES JUSTICE COURT HEARING

Speedy prosecution of Mrs. Marjorie Palmer, 20, referred to as the "pajama burglar," was assured today when she waived her preliminary hearing in justice court on four counts of burglary.

Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford filed the complaints against Mrs. Palmer, charging that she entered the home of Fred C. Wall, 1330 South Broadway, on January 9; another house owned by Wall at 934 Fairview street on January 13; the home of Henry C. Phillips, 805 South Van Ness street and H. O. Rasmussen, 1415 Louise street, on March 15.

Mrs. Palmer was arrested at her home, 814 South Patton street, Friday night and taken to the county jail for investigation of burglary. It is believed that she is responsible for nearly a score of burglaries in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, and from $1000 to $1500 of loot has been recovered by police and is being identified by the victims.

Officers believe that the pretty young bride is a kleptomaniac and was not wholly responsible for the many thefts. She stole far more goods than she could possibly use, they point out.

She was arrested after Miss Dorothy Chesley of Fullerton saw her wearing a dress stolen from the Chesley home more than a month ago.

Deputy District Attorney James Davis, conducting the prosecution, said that he would file the information against Mrs. Palmer in superior court Friday. Judge Kenneth Morrison set bail at $1000, which she has not posted.

BUILDING OWNER IN STATEMENT ON DANCE PROTESTS

W. E. Dixon, owner of the Santa Ana auditorium, at Fourth and Van Ness streets, issued the following statement today concerning the recent criticism of the dance hall conducted there by A. H. Johnson:

"Before renting the hall to Mr. Johnson, the proprietor, I investigated Mr. Johnson very thoroughly and found him to be a man of the highest integrity, honest and whose personal habits are above reproach. He does not drink nor tolerate drinking in any way. Mr. Johnson signed a lease with the provision, wherein the lessee 'promises and agrees that no alcoholic beverages shall be sold, given away or allowed to be drunk on the leased premises.'"

"Since the publication of the article in The Register last Tuesday I have made a very thorough investigation, not only as to the management of the hall itself, but a man has been employed to patrol the streets on the outside on Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday nights of last week, in fact, I have been with him part of the time. He reports to me that he has not seen one thing to criticize anywhere in the neighborhood."

"Mr. Johnson employs some 17 people and his pay roll and rents amount to some $500 per month. Surely this business should not be destroyed without a thorough investigation."

"Should I have found the condition as reported in the paper, true, I would have cancelled this lease immediately. I feel now that the young people should have a clean, well chaperoned place in which to dance."

FREAK ACCIDENT SERIOUSLY INJURES SANTA ANA DOCTOR

Dr. Frank Ashmore, 525 West Santa Clara avenue, may lose the sight of his left eye as the result of an unusual accident Saturday afternoon which occurred while he was manufacturing carbon dioxide water by forcing carbon dioxide into bottles of water.

Dr. Ashmore was struck in the arm and face by the flying glass and was rushed to a physician's office for treatment, later being transferred to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he will be confined for more than a week.

Attending physicians said he has a chance to regain his eyesight but it may be impaired or lost entirely. His arm was badly lacerated.

CHURCH SWINGS DOOR WIDE FOR THOSE WITHOUT

Those persons who are not members of a church should know that there is a standing invitation to them to enter Christian fellowship, said the Rev. William Schmoeck, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, in his sermon Sunday morning.

He said, in part: "The church has at all times invited those who are without to join her in her worship. This invitation is a loving, loving call accompanied with detailed instruction as to how the true God is to be worshiped, namely, not with murmuring and sullen, but with joyful hearts."

"The true worshippers serve the Lord with willing minds, considering it the highest honor to be servants of the Most High. True worshippers rejoice in the Lord, because they know that only the God of revelation is the true God. He is the living God, who hath made us, and not we ourselves. He has made us His people and the sheep of His pasture. To Him we owe our existence and preservation, and above all our salvation."

"Now, this God wants to save all men, and the Church should therefore invite all to join in the acknowledgment that the Lord is God, with whom is forgiveness, that He might be feared. In the invitation of the Church it is not Jesus calling upon Gentile or Jew to come to God; it is the heart of love, hoping, all things, embracing all the world in its appeal."

"All men are invited to praise the Lord, for He is good, there is no evil, no guile in Him. His goodness leads men, and ought to lead them, to repentance. He is good to all; all are therefore invited to praise Him. Continuing in His goodness, though men may mock and sneer at our faith in a God, the Church will ever invite all to taste and see that the Lord is good."

"Another reason why the Church invites all men to praise the Lord, is His mercy, which endures forever. We have experienced this loving kindness in our own life, but especially do we recognize it in the gift of His only-begotten Son as the Savior of the world. Even after centuries of human ingratitude and apostasy the mercy of God in Christ Jesus is still held out to all men, and we should not be sluggish in telling others: 'Behold, our glorious God!' His truth, faithfulness, endureth to all generations."

"Our God is absolutely dependable in all that He has spoken, in all His pledges and promises; faithful in His marvelous love. Should we not feel sorry for those who do not believe this, who are trusting in unstable and fickle statements of fiction and fancy, which change according to expediency and policy and do not even stand the test of one generation of time. Here is a God Whose faithfulness endures to all generations, Whose Word is settled forever in heaven. Truly, a wonderful God is our God. Let us declare His goodness, His mercy, and His faithfulness to all men."

MORMON OFFICIAL SPEAKS TONIGHT

LORD'S PRAYER ANALYZED FOR KIWANIS AND FRIENDS WHEN SPECIAL SERMON IS DELIVERED

In his message last evening to the members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, their wives and friends, Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly, minister of the United Presbyterian church chose as his theme "A Cry for Bread." He used the text Matthew 6:11, "Father... give us this day our daily bread." He spoke in part as follows:

"Ralph W. Sockman has written a pertinent word 'The man of the street wants a religion which meets him where he is and then has the power to take him where he is not.' George A. Buttrick has concluded in his 'Christ Came Preaching', that 'the preacher's message is unchanged, unchanging and unchangeable; that the Gospel is an eternal Gospel, from everlasting to everlasting the overture of God to men in Jesus Christ, and like Him the same yesterday, today and forever; but that the point of challenge for faith moves as the years move; that in each generation the immutable gospel wears a new time aspect; that in our day of unprecedented control of Nature, of the planet's being shrunken to a neighborhood, of economic upheavals, of aggressive doubt, of the surging of life everywhere, the one to whom is committed the preaching of the gospel is summoned to a new urgency. He will proclaim still an eternal righteousness but the proclamation will be without persuasion or power unless it is bravely applied to the case at hand. He will proclaim an eternal love, but the word will be void unless it stands to carry the burdens of our day."

"And so we come close to our theme and our text, which, since we were at Mother's knee we have known and prayed as one of the petitions of the Lord's Prayer. Just eight words, including the name of the One addressed, and every word holding a necessary place, every word worth careful thought and application. We may well consider them in order."

"First, 'Father.' How sweet the word, how comforting and assuring, and obligating the term. If that His name, then He loves me with an everlasting love. Then he is more concerned about my welfare than I am myself. Then I may go to him with everything for the door stands open to me. His child, and He cares for me. I may trust Him, take Him at His word, stake my very life upon His existence and His word. Estelle Taylor has written of Him as the 'Grand Something.' But to me He is supremely more than that. He is my Father. 'Father give me this day my daily bread.'"

"Second, the pronouns. They are 'our' and 'us.' I am in the picture, but I am not the whole picture. I do not appear to hold center stage, or occupy the focal point. I am there but in the company of others. I come with them, not without them or before them, when I pray. What a stroke of selfishness this is: what a rebuff of the Pharisaic spirit; what a condemnation of any not-care-about-the-other fellow attitude which may be mine. After all why should I ever get my self off or above or beyond the deep and poignant needs of my fellowmen?"

"Third, the verb of the petition 'Give.' No cold commanding imperative is here. Not that we are ordering God to act. There is no consideration of receiving pay from Him, as if we served Him for wages and this was a demanding of the pay in full. We are not coming to receive rewards for excellence of character or life. God does not owe us anything except the keeping of His promises to supply our needs. The bread He gives is within the boundaries of His grace."

"Fourth—the object to be sought, 'Bread.' Do not count it a prerogative if I suggest a different wording for the prayer. 'Father, give us cakes and pies, our fillet mignon, our roast breast of guinea hen, give us thousands of dollars, stocks and bonds and lands; palaces to live in, the fat of the earth.' 'Bread.' And that means the necessities of life. He bids me pray for that which I need for the physical man. He knows that I must have food and clothing. But I am to pray for that which supplies the need of the spirit of me. My immortal soul must be supplied. The bread of life I must have. I am not to neglect the physical but I must remember the spiritual, Jesus said 'I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger—I am told to ask for Him. I so need Him."

"And then the time element—'this day our daily bread.' Prayer is to be for that which meets the needs of the moment just ahead. The meaning must be 'just for today or moment by moment.' The manna was to be gathered for the day. 'I do not ask to see the distant scene; one step enough for me,' so John Henry Newman sings. And why such prayer direction? Do not the reasons manifest themselves? That we may not be unmindful of our dependence daily upon Him; that we may learn not to be unduly concerned about the more distant future; that God must not be lost out of the picture of life; that we may never forget that a 'man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.'"

CITY'S DESCENT UNDERSTOOD IN THIS AGE, SAID

"Christians should not find it any more difficult to believe in the descent of the Holy City from heaven, than the suspension of the world in space. Science invents flying boats and ships so that people live in midair with city accommodations. Why should science scoff at God for having a flying city?—We live on one of His flying worlds!" Thus Evangelist B. R. Spear, at the Adventist church last night, declared his faith in the coming of the New Jerusalem to this earth as a real event of the future.

The vastness of the city was described by the speaker as follows: "Its walls is 1800 miles around, or 375 miles on each of the four sides. The square mile area is 138,425, or more than that of 11 of our smaller states. This would give every man, woman and child of our 1,800,000,000 population at least 2179 square feet, sufficient room for a small cottage. The world's present population could comfortably stand within an area of 17 miles square, a distance less than between Santa Ana and Long Beach. 484 such squares could be placed inside the city walls."

"According to St. John," said Mr. Spear, "this city descends at the end of the 1000 years (Revelation 20:7, 9). The apostle writes, 'I, John, saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven.' John then proceeds to describe its beauties. There are 12 foundations of precious stones. Each foundation containing one of the names of the 12 apostles. There are also 12 gates, 3 on each side of the city, each a pearl, and every gate has a name of one of the 12 tribes of Israel. This inspired combination assures us that all the ransomed, both of the old testament and the new, will have their place in the city of the Great King."

"In this earth, Satan, by deception, gained control. Here he has set up his throne as a symbol of the love of power. In due time Christ came and set up His cross in the place of Satan's throne. The cross became the symbol of the power of love. Here, in John's vision, we read that the throne of God and the Lamb are in the city. Thus where sin originally abounded grace will much more abound."

Mr. Spear read the statement that God and Christ will be the light of the city, and added, "This explains further the words of Christ, 'I am the light of the world.'"

"The nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it. Such a thought: that we may have a place in that city through the blood of the cross. The visions of John are rich with scenes of praise and thanksgiving. They cannot be read or studied without a mighty appeal being made to the life."

"It is now, while we have life and opportunity, that we are to make sure of a home there. The gates are ajar. The light of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ is shining them now to live a better life."

"The tragedy of the lost outside the city at the time of their destruction (Rev. 22: 14, 15 and 20:12) is beyond description (Matt. 22:13). To see the glorious realities of the city before their very eyes, yet forever out of reach, simply because they refused to believe, and at a time when they could have been more than human words can express. This realization and sight will bring upon them a mental anguish of despair that only Christ has intelligently described. The experience alone will know and understand it."

"The beautiful narration of the city, the home of God and His people, closes with this personal invitation, 'The Spirit and the bride say come. And let him that is athirst come. And let him that will, let him take the water of life freely.'"

Mr. Spear speaks next Sunday night on the current event prophecy, "Who Will Start the Next World War?"

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Among the Scriptural citations were the verses from Hebrews, "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God."

thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and be sorry, he has little part in the atonement.—In the at-one-ment with God,—for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables man to do the will of wisdom.

SAYS CROSS IS ONLY WAY FOR CIVILIZATION

FULLERTON, April 23.—Civilization, confused and confounded, groping and broken, is missing the one way out, and that way is the cross, John Brown, evangelist of note, said yesterday morning in a sermon at the Fullerton Methodist church. He was preaching at the fifth anniversary service of the church, a continuation of the celebration Friday night when a banquet was held.

Brown, introduced by the pastor, the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, used as a text the first few verses of the Gospel of John, and pointed out in those verses the words of Christ, who declared that "I am the way, the truth and the life."

He called particular attention to the manner in which the world is dodging responsibility and refusing to take the way of the cross as a means out, and warned youth to get fixed in the heart the fact that "God is," instead of accepting a new and untried philosophy that has to date led youth to atheism and spiritualism.

"In the present, during the strife, the bankruptcy of life, the cross still stands; we must get back to it if we are to survive as a civilization," he said.

In regard to the present liquor situation, Evangelist Brown, placing it with the other confusing things of the time, said he agreed with Bob Shuler that out of a nation awash at the present with a high tide of drinking, the time will come when men who have broken down the dry laws will stand on street corners, making an effort to stay the awful tide, a result of what they have imposed on humanity, to stop civilization from final bankruptcy."

The speaker was received by a large congregation. A special musical program was offered during the morning hour.

With the exception of officers of the High School Parent-Teacher association, all will be installed by the retiring district president, Mrs. R. W. Marvin. ## CAMPAIGNER FOR CLEAN MOVIES COMPLIMENTS BROTHERHOOD ON TACKLING PROBLEMS OF DAY

Complimenting the Orange County Brotherhood movement on the fact that it is tackling the problems of the hour in an aggressive program, and declaring that this is no time for Brotherhoods to be interested in mere generalities, C. G. Dowds, of Santa Ana, spoke at the evening service in the First M. E. church last night. The service was under direction of the Brotherhood Council of the church, with E. Beamer, president, in charge.

The Better Films association of Orange County, with its 6000 share-holders in the county and its board of 40 leading citizens, is known all through the East, Dowds said, as he told of interviews and contacts incident to his recent trip when he counseled with leaders in New York, Washington, Cleveland, Philadelphia and various other centers. The Hays organization is particularly respectful of the Orange county association, and is anxious to make concessions to satisfy the demands of Orange county with reference to the types of pictures that are to be shown in the county, he said.

Dowds made an extended reference to the Payne Fund reports which have been compiled as the result of four years of investigation by representatives of six universities. "The report shows conclusively that the type of pictures being shown conflicts sharply with public school and church teaching, and tends to tear down what these agencies are attempting to build in moral appreciation," he said. "In addition to the fact that 75 to 80 per cent of the pictures are based upon sex, crime and the Hollywood type of love, and that 40 per cent are bedroom scenes, there is the emphasis that is placed upon selfishness and similar objectives that are contrary to the spirit of universal co-operation and service that must characterize any national recovery."

Declaring that the National Board of Review and the Hays organization had succeeded in deceiving the Federal Council of churches in times past, Dowds said that Dr. Tippy, who is at the head of the motion picture organization for 35 protestant denominations, has assured him that the moral aspect, rather than the artistic aspect alone, would be the determining factor in the acceptance of pictures hereafter. "Correction of past abuses is going to be made, undoubtedly," he said.

Dowds told of the program of the Motion Picture Research Council, and expressed his pleasure at the progress that is being made toward a great movement on the part of the young people of America looking to a new era in motion picture production. The National Education association, meeting in Cleveland, has given time and attention to this subject, he said, and Dr. Daniel Poling has supported it in his great address. Dr. Sheehan and Dr. Furber are tremendously interested as representing the Catholic University and the editor of Catholic Welfare has assured Dowds of his support for the youth movement, he reported.

Dowds took a very optimistic view of the prospects for a successful campaign if the people continue to give it adequate support.

CLOSE TWO OF CCC CAMPS IN ORANGE COUNTY

Orange county was left with but one CCC camp today after members of two of the three camps left by train for eastern points yesterday, according to Joe Scherman state forest ranger.

About 200 members of the San Juan Capistrano Hot Springs CCC camp embarked at Capistrano yesterday afternoon on a train, bound for Cortina, Idaho, where they will be located. The boys were from Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee. They had been at the camp since a year ago last May.

Two hundred members of the Silverado CCC camp also left yesterday afternoon, taking a train from Orange and bound for Wallace, Idaho.

In the new set-up, the officers and men of Camp Trabuco, El Toro, will move to the San Juan Hot Springs camp, leaving a sub-camp comprised of about 30 men at Trabuco, according to Lieut. David R. Hamilton, publicity officer.

The company will spend the summer and early fall at the Capistrano camp, where visitors will be welcomed at all times, it was stated.

In the picturesque and historical community of Capistrano, the 200 young Orange county men will begin the task of eliminating all fire hazards, constructing barrier dams and preserving the beauty of Orange county forests.

Capt. Orville R. Emerson of the 364th Infantry recently has assumed command of the company and is especially desirous of having residents of Orange county visit the camp, witness the manner in which the men live and the work they are doing under the direction of the United States Army and United States Forest Service, Lieutenant Hamilton said.

Besides the one CCC camp, there still are two state labor camps in the county, one on the Ortega highway which has about 30 men, and another at Camp Sierra, in Santa Ana canyon, where about 125 single resident men are stationed.

The next board meeting will be held at the Irvine park with a picnic supper for board members and their families. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Flipping served tea and cookies to those present, who were Mrs. Ted Stanley, Mrs. Owen Smith, Mrs. Roscoe Schaffert, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, J. D. Hayes, Mrs. Douglas Noble, Mrs. A. J. Hill, Mrs. Elmer Koenig, Mrs. Luther Barnett and Mrs. Fay Irwin.

After seeing "Little Women" Judge Pleasant commented on the improvement in photography and expressed his desire to return to see another "talkie."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON By Paul Mallon

TEMPERS

What makes this latest Japanese nose-thumbing act so serious is not what has happened so far, but what is coming.

The Roosevelt administration will inform the Japanese, in one way or another, that it does not intend to let them tell us what kind of commercial relations we will maintain with China.

It will then admit that they understand that we have no authority to stop our civilian aviators from training the Chinese in peace-time, that we do not intend to ask Japan what kind of loans we shall make to China, and that we consider Japan's new gate-keeping tactics in China as a flagrant violation of the nine-power pact.

That is what is known in un-labeled language universally as a mouthful.

CHANCES

How that will be told to the Japanese remains for them to decide. I may be pleasant or it may be rough.

They passed out their preliminary statement in Tokyo in a semi-official way. That is the old diplomatic trick to find out how the world chancelleries feel, before an official statement is sent out.

Our officials have been biting their finger nails keeping quiet officially. But they are not exactly making a secret of their reaction. Their view undoubtedly already has been transmitted to Tokyo through the unofficial grapevine.

So the Japanese know what to expect when and if they start sending out official notices of their new policy.

BACKGROUND

It is a very silly business, viewed from the inside.

Our officials cannot understand why Japan ever took such a step at this time.

The Japanese well knew our un-announced attitude was to mind our own business and leave Japan and the Orient alone. On the Q. T. we more or less expected that Japan would extend her influence over China by economic aggression and perhaps even some mild military steps.

We were prepared to let her do it quietly in order to avoid trouble. We were willing to go to any honorable diplomatic extreme in order to avoid a showdown in the Far East.

PURPOSE

What is behind this whole thing, of course, is the campaign Japan started generations ago for the conquest of the Far East. First, it was Korea, then Manchukuo, and now all China. Eventually she will dominate all, but in her enthusiasm for a hasty realization of her objective, she sometimes over-steps herself.

When Foreign Minister Hirota's honeyed peace note came across the Pacific a month ago, our officials thought it meant a lull of a few years in the Japanese campaign. They thought that Japan's fear of war with Russia had calmed her down temporarily.

There are good reasons for believing our sigh of relief then was justified. But the very moment that Europe became involved in a new warm disarmament squabble and our fleet left the Pacific, the Japanese statesmen seized the opportunity to renew their conquest project. They do not want war. They want to gobble up the Far East by diplomatic guile and commercial aggression, and this is part of the game.

SUCCESSFUL BLUNDERS

Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee conceived an idea for stopping the McLeod bill. He decided to present the bill to the house before the petitioners could force him to. Hastily, his committee met and authorized the presentation. But after the presentation was made, to the surprise of the discoverer, Steagall had presented the wrong McLeod bill. (McLeod had several.)

This hasty error was no sooner discovered than it was discovered that Steagall's committee had met in the afternoon. That is against the rules, so the presentation was illegal.

So Mr. Steagall withdrew the bill and had a morning meeting of his committee to do the thing right.

The point is that all this required nearly a week and delayed the vote on the McLeod bill that long.

POLITICS

The pressure for the McLeod bill comes from out in the country. It is as strong as the pressure recently exerted on congress. Every person who lost money in banks appears to be writing in, demanding passage of the measure which would direct the government to pay back his money.

It has no chance of final enactment because the president is dead set against it. But its passage in congress will enable the congressmen to gain political support back home, as on the veterans' issue.

NOTES

One thing, not generally known, which has nettled the Japanese, was the order of Commerce Secretary Roper stopping the scrapping of shipping board vessels. The Japanese were buying much of this scrap for munitions purposes.

This latest Japanese situation is not an abstract international matter, but of vital interest to our cotton and tobacco growers and manufacturers. China is one of their best foreign customers.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Dickinson smokes a cornob pipe in his more or less luxurious office.

The cooling system in the room of the house interstate commerce committee has been working too well recently. During secret consideration of the stock market regulation bill, at intervals, it nearly froze the committee members. They think it is another Wall Street plot.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

BACKFIRE

A backfire has started in the heart of conservative New York against the attempted mobilization of public opinion to undermine the President and his policies.

This new movement hasn't yet gained many recruits but such as it has are influential and their voices—although not raised in public—are beginning to be heard. What's more they can mostly be classed as genuine conservatives.

They have two main angles of attack. One is that Mr. Roosevelt's vacation emphasized the need for his leadership and that nothing he's likely to do could be as bad as what would happen if congress gets the habit of riding him down. The second is that conservatives who ally themselves with the inflationary groups just because they don't happen to like certain phases of the recovery program are flirting with suicide. They insist that the restrictions of NRA and Exchange regulation are infinitely preferable to the destruction of investments through open-end inflation.

This sentiment has made appreciable headway among commercial and investment bankers and is beginning to permeate industrialists and even to a few of the Stock Exchange crowd. It doesn't imply wholesale approval of the New Deal but it tends to divide the opposition and keep it quiet.

TALONS

Here's a sample of the new line of thought. A highly regarded and thoroughly conservative private letter to Wall Street subscribers comments as follows on General Johnson's apparent willingness to abandon the licensing provisions of the Recovery Act. "Perhaps the General believes that industry can now be trusted to regulate its own affairs. We should not forget, however, that the Blue Eagle would be a feeble bird without his talons."

GRAINS

The recent decline in grain prices is at least partly traceable to the deliberate tactics of speculators who wish to encourage regulation of commodity exchanges. They hope to convey the impression that the threat of the latter is gumming the works.

But keen New York observers predict that their bright idea will explode in their faces if Washington discovers that the farmers' income is that much at the mercy of the speculative element.

RETAINED

Here's one reason why the utility influence is so potent in New York and other state legislatures. Some of the larger groups have the canny habit of keeping a watchful eye on promising young lawyers with political aspirations. Such youngsters—if they seem likely to get anywhere—are frequently retained by the utilities for minor legal services. That creates a bond which comes in handy when they rise in the political world. Railroads used to do the same thing but from their angle there hasn't been so much point to it in recent years.

SECURITIES

The expected softening of the Securities Act will be saluted by a wave of financing sponsored in New York. Inside estimates indicate that issues aggregating several hundred million dollars are waiting the signal to go over the top.

Local experts comment that the rigidity of the Securities Act has been a decided help to government financing up to date. By virtually suppressing corporate offerings, it gave the Treasury a monopoly of the new issue market when it was needed. Large investors were practically compelled to buy governments or leave their funds in unprofitable idleness.

This artificial aid is no longer necessary thanks to the Treasury's skill in handling recent issues. The knowing say this is one reason why the Administration is now willing to contemplate modification of the Act.

TAXES

Taxes have had more to do with curtailing recent stock-market activities than meets the eye. When large operators came to pay their 1933 income taxes, they discovered that active trading with frequent profit-taking didn't net them nearly as much as they'd thought. So now the tendency is to let the chips lay and wait for long-time gains. The tax-rates have done more to encourage investment buying and discourage speculation than any other governmental move to date.

This reluctance to take profits has helped stabilize the market by sharply reducing the selling pressure when prices have tended to decline. By the same token it has cut into brokers' commissions and there are plenty of moans on that score.

SIDELIGHTS

New York has found something Lloyd of London won't bet on. They won't insure against losses due to liability under the Securities Act. . . . General Motors' foreign sales for the first quarter were 79 per cent ahead of last year. . . . Final action on Exchange regulation is expected early in May.

BON VOYAGE

This is the year of the big exodus. All sorts of American athletes are bundling up their sports togs in preparation for trips to foreign climes. From the looks of things, the sports year will be very dull indeed in these United States.

First of all, an American polo squad is going to visit England for the first time since 1921. This team, the Aurora squad, is made up of Seymour H. Knox, Elmer Boesche, William Post and Harold E. Talbot.

The last time an American squad hit English shores, it brought back the International Polo Challenge Cup, which has remained here ever since.

FOR SOCCER GLORY

Then we'll have a soccer squad on the way to Italy before long. This team, made up of members of the St. Louis Stix and Pawtucket Rangers, who played for the national title recently, will compete for the world soccer championship in the land of Mussolini.

The tournament opens May 24 and continues through June 16. Then we'll have the Walker Cup boys going away to continue their winning streak. When Francis Oulmet, Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Max Marston and Company leave, they'll take a good show away from U. S. golf fans. They'll be back for the Open and the Amateur, however.

Then the general rush to the British Open and Amateur will take place. The Walker Cup boys may stay over there to take part in those two British classics, and their ranks will be augmented by a host of pros and amateurs who'll make the trip for a crack at the two titles.

Following the college track season, it is expected that a group of outstanding amateur athletes will be taken on a tour of Europe again.

BACK TO GOLF

Before we forget it, remember that Joe Kirkwood and Gene Sarazen are right in the middle of a $50,000-mile trip, mostly by air, in which they are demonstrating their skill with golf clubs for the delight—and dough—of fans in every part of the world.

Then we'll have the usual departure of our tennis stars for England's Wimbledon tournament and Davis Cup rounds.

All this traveling, necessitating quite a few kopeks for transportation, grub and libereate expense accounts, seems to indicate that prosperity is here again!

AH, NOBLE GAME!

There comes to the desk a little blue-covered book from George Henry Fisher, entitled "Stud Poker Blue Book." And does that man know his game?

SANTA ANA WINS GOLF TITLE

WEDNESDAY TO BE NEW NIGHT FOR S. A. RACES

Promoters of Santa Ana's mid-week auto races switch to Wednesday this week as their new show night, believing the change will be beneficial for all concerned: (1) the paying public, and therefore, naturally (2) the promoters themselves, and (3) business men who have complained that Saturday night programs at the Municipal Bowl detract from downtown business.

The first Wednesday races will be offered night after tomorrow, with the usual lineup of drivers and events scheduled.

Bill Betteridge, ace pilot of the association, won the 30-lap main event at the Bowl last Saturday night. Taking the lead on the first lap, Betteridge never has headed although "Curley" Mills stuck fairly close behind for a good second place. Pat Warren was third. Mills drove a car with an outboard motor.

Betteridge's time was 8 min. 46 sec., as against the 9:16.3 record of Leo Faulkner the previous week. Paul Wilber, a Class B entrant, made a better speed average than Betteridge in the Class B main event. He wheeled through 15 laps in 4 min. 9 sec., an average of 15.67 seconds a lap.

Gross receipts jumped approximately $17, the intake being $365.45 according to City Auditor Lloyd Banks. Last week's show brought in $348.55. The first card did $501.60. Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, gets 30 per cent of the receipts, paying the city as rental 10 per cent of its share.

The summary: Dash: Pat Warren vs. Bill Betteridge. Bill Betteridge won in 24.2 sec.

3-lap, limited to four cars: Bill Betteridge, first. Time, 1 min. 21 sec.

5-lap, limited to four cars: M. Davis, first. Time, 1 min. 42 sec.

5-lap, limited to four cars: Carl Mortimer, first. Time, 1 min. 29.6 sec.

5-lap, limited to four cars: Harold Robinson, first. Time, 1 min. 30.2 sec.

5-lap, limited to four cars: Al Sherman, first. Time, 1 min. 36 sec. (Le Roy Golding had nice lead but went into early spin at 1000 ft. average.)

15-lap Class B: Paul Wilber, first. Time, 4 min. 9 sec. (Fastest per-lap time of evening, 15.67 sec. average.)

30-lap main event: Bill Betteridge, first; "Curly" Mills, second; Pat Warren, third. Time, 8 min. 46 sec.

5-lap match race: Bill Betteridge vs. Pat Warren. Betteridge won in 53 sec.

WHAT! STRAIGHTS DON'T COUNT?

There are several interesting little sidelights on the game that friend George sets down. Among them are:

The straight was at first an outlawed hand and a straight flush was not admitted to polite society... and when it was first taken into the field, it was played to beat two pair, but to lose to three of a kind.... Stud is the youngest and most popular of the card games... and is directly the result of a game called Primo, an Italian game introduced in the 15th century, which first made use of the gentle art of "bluffing".... It wasn't until after the French revolution that the "raise" feature was added, and the game became Bouillotte.... "Draw" was introduced under the reign of Louis XIV... and the game has been practically the same ever since.

STORY OF STUD

According to a story Fisher tells, the term "stud" came about in the following manner:

A group of Kentucky backwoodsman were indulging in a game and guzzling corn likker. One of the players, who had become a bit woozy, suspected some underhand work on the part of a one-eyed gent who was sitting in the game.

Came a good hand for the suspecting one, and he staked all his woe. His one-eyed opponent raised, and the hero of the yarn rushed outside, grabbed the reins of his trusty stallion, led the horse into the room and declared he would put up his nag as part of the pot. He suspected his hand had become an open book while he was out.

"Now," he calmly stated, resting his six-shooter on the table, "you fellows know darned well what I'm betting on. Now I propose that to make it fair all the way around, each man turns three of his cards face up—discards two—and draws two more face down. I'll gamble this thoroughbred stud horse on my chances—and if anyone makes a false move (here he gave the one-eyed gent a dirty look) I'll shoot his other eye out!"

So was born stud poker.

LOU MEYER WINNER OF 150-MILE TEST

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—(UP)—Covering the rough, hilly course in 2:45.33, Lou Meyer, three-time National automobile racing champion, piloted his small stock car to victory in the 150-mile Targa Florio road race at Ascot Legion speedway yesterday.

Meyer beat out 14 competitors in a spectacular finish which found him fighting Ted Horn a close battle for the lead. The winner led it from the 107th lap, forcing Horn into second place. Al Gordon wound up in third place, Cliff Bergere fourth, Danny De Paolo fifth, "Stubby" Stubblefield sixth, Rex Maye, seventh and Woody Woodford eighth.

Motorcycle Track Shuts For 2 Weeks

Santa Ana's motorcycle track on Newport boulevard will be closed for two weeks, Promoter Jack Fredericks announced today, for the purpose of installing lights for night racing through the summer months.

Fredericks said no particular night has been designated for the revival of short-track racing, as the Santa Ana Motorcycle club prefers to await developments before proceeding with plans.

Tony "Donner" Demma, premier rider of the Southland and point-leader at White Sox park, won Sunday's main event, a four-lap event in 1 minute, 24 1-5 seconds. Jack Long was a good second and Dick Cravens third.

Cravens took the final scratch race, with the inevitable Demma second and Bob Holden third. Cravens' time was 1:17 2-5.

Attempting a new record for one lap, Holden spilled on the first turn. Johnny Norton's bid for fame also was frustrated when he developed motor trouble.

KENNEDY WINS CHAMPIONSHIP AT WILLOWICK

The Willowick Golf club had a new champion today.

Laying a perfect though unintentional stymie on the nineteenth green, Don Kennedy, Santa Ana's ablest junior player, took the measure of Ray Hardin in the final round Saturday afternoon.

Turning the 18 in 71, par figures, Kennedy and Hardin were all square at the end of the regulation distance. Don parked his pitch shot 14 inches from the cup on the 19th hole, while Hardin's dropped three feet behind Kennedy's ball in direct line to the flag. Hardin's putt failed to curl around his obstacle but Kennedy sunk his for a par-four, ending the tournament.

The cards: (Out) Kennedy 4-3 5-3 5-3 5-3 4-36 Kennedy 4-4 4-4 4-3 4-3 4-36 Hardin 3-4 4-4 4-4 4-3 5-36

(In) Kennedy 3-4 4-4 3-5 4-5 3-37 Kennedy 5-4 4-5 3-4 4-5 3-37 Hardin 4-3 3-4 3-5 5-5 3-35

Kennedy led, two up, at the end of the first nine but Hardin got these back on the first two "in" holes and then moved two-up by taking the twelfth and thirteenth with Southern California at Los Angeles. Coach "Dink" Templeton said Stanford would try to take Fresno State "in stride" here this week.

California-Stanford records fell in the shot put, broad jump and relay. John Lyman, Stanford senior, shoved the 16-pound shot 54 feet, 1 inch for a new world's mark in the first event of the day. Bob Clarke, California, broad-jumped 24 feet, 4 1-8 inches, and Stanford's surprising relay team ran the mile in 3 min. 15.5 sec.

Willowick women golfers start a 72-hole, medal play tourney next Wednesday, with one round of 18 holes scheduled every week. These rounds must be played consecutively. An attractive prize will be presented the player holding low net score for the 72.

Stuart Hawley Is N. C. Golf Champ

BERKELEY, Cal., April 23.—(UP)—The Northern California Amateur Golf championship became more firmly established as a Stanford university monopoly today through Stuart Hawley Jr.'s victory in the finals of the 1934 tournament. Hawley, Stanford post graduate, defeated James A. ("Babe") Ritchie, Stockton, one up, to capture the title held by Stanford students for four years. Previous winners were Lawson Little and Charley Seaver, neither of whom participated this year.

HAYES HAS SON HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—(UP)—Lina Basquette Hayes, actress, and Teddy Hayes, former trainer of Jack Dempsey, today announced the birth of a son, named Edward, and described by his mother, as "simply adorable."

STAINBACK AND WARNEKE SPUR CUBS FORWARD

CHICAGO, April 23.—(UP)—Five pitchers, five victories, a perfect road record—that was the boast of the Chicago Cubs today when they came home to open the season tomorrow at Wrigley field against the Cincinnati Reds.

"It looks like the old road jinx is broken at last," remarked Manager Charlie Grimm.

For the past few years the Cubs have been a notoriously weak club on the road, but tough indeed to beat at home. Last season the Cubs won 21 games and lost 45 away from home, and the season before they could only win 37 against 40 defeats in a pennant-winning year. During this two-year span the Cubs won 108 games and lost 47 games at home.

The bright spots in the Cubs' early drive to the National league lead have been:

1. Phenomenal pitching, in which Cub hurlers have held the opposition to 8 runs and 22 hits in five games.

2. The team's flaming spirit, fired anew by "Chuck" Klein and "Tuck" Stainback, the rookie outfielder.

The timely batting of Klein and Stainback and the comeback of Billy Herman.

Manager Grimm has sent five pitchers to the mound and each has delivered a brilliant performance and gone the route to win his game. Lon Warneke opened the season with a one-hit masterpiece against the Reds and five days later delivered another one-hit game against the Cardinals Sunday.

With the season not yet a week old Warneke would seem to have a chance to threaten Grover Cleveland Alexander's major league record of four one-hit games in one season, a trick he turned in 1915 with the Phillies.

After Warneke's brilliant start, Guy Bush followed with a six-hit game against the Reds, allowing only one runner to reach base until he had an 8-1 lead. Pat Malone, the reformed "bad boy," wheeled into action next with a five-hit game against the Reds, in which four of the blows were scratchy. Charlie Root then beat the Cardinals, 2-1, allowing nine hits but pitching masterfully in the pinches. Warneke came back Sunday to handcuff the Cards, 14-2.

It hasn't been all pitching with the Cubs. Stainback and Billy Herman lead the Cubs in batting, each with 409, followed by Klein with 385.

Boxer Indrisano Guest At Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, April 23.—Johnny Indrisano, Boston middleweight pugilist, who recently won the California championship by defeating Vince Dundee, will now be outpointed in an overweight no-decision match.

The Boston Italian is visiting at the home of Charles F. ("Chuck") Riesen, movie director, in Laguna Beach. According to Riesen, his friend has defeated some of the best men in the business at the welter and middle-weights, including Joe Dundee and Jackie Fields, but has never been able to get him into a title match.

NIGHT LEAGUE TEAMS SWING INTO 3RD WEEK

Swinging into their third week of spring training, National Night league baseball clubs play two games tonight and four tomorrow night.

The lone conflict in the sector this evening will be at Olive where the Packers formally inaugurate their new park, a CWA project, against Riverside, an American division unit. George Lackey's Westminster Aviators travel to Colton for a game that will offer a means of comparing Westminster with Santa Ana and Anaheim, teams that already have met the Reds.

Rudy Heman will pitch for Olive against the Rubes, with Elmer Coats, burly ex-Whittier first baseman, catching.

Encouraged by two shutout victories their last two starts, Santa Ana's Stars battle a local rival, the Green Cats, at the Municipal Bowl tomorrow. The clubs played a thrilling 1-0 game last week, Tommy Young's homer deciding it. Stars and Cats also collide next Friday.

Huntington Beach has scheduled one of the pre-league season's most attractive exhibitions Tuesday. The Oilers face Sol Butler's Ramblers, an all-colored aggregation, at Huntington Beach. Pomona invades Anaheim, and Torrance goes to San Bernardino to sample Venn Botts' pitching.

Manager Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach today had a new incentive for winning the National Night league championship. He became the father of a seven-pound baby daughter Sunday, the child being born to Mrs. Rodgers at the Seaside hospital in Long Beach at 8:40 a. m. The little lady's name is Mildred Ann Rodgers.

Carl Quandt, Orange high school tennis star was today singles champion of the Orange league after having smashed and volleyed his way to the top of the Orange League championship singles tournament at Tustin Saturday.

Bob Peacock, Tustin junior, was runner-up in the tournament in which 16 players representing eight county schools participated.

Which of the two favorites, Peacock or Quandt, would land on top could not be predicted until the last few games of the finals, which went three sets: 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. Peacock's road to the finals was simple, two games being the most scored against him in any set. Quandt likewise encountered little opposition, although Coalsen Morris of Anaheim extended him to a 7-5 set. Morris and John Vech of Orange, reached the semifinals.

The tournament was held under the supervision of Robert Korff, who coached at Tustin. The league's doubles tourney will be held at Orange next Saturday.

The summary: First round—Peacock (T) defeated Combs (BO) 6-0, 6-1; Greschner (NH) d. Aoki (HB) 6-4, 6-2; Beck (AV) d. Jineti (C) 6-4, 6-4; Vech (O) d. Dols (GG) 6-1, 6-2; Morris (A) d. Hadley (NH) 6-0, 6-2; Peacock (T) d. Gardner (GG) 6-1, 6-2; Stoffel (C) d. Neils (BO) 7-5, 6-0; Quandt (O) d. McIntosh (HB) 6-2, 6-0.

Second round—Peacock (T) d. Greschner (NH) 6-4, 6-2; Vech (O) d. Beck (A) 4-6, 6-2, 6-3; Morris (A) d. Peacock (T) 6-5, 6-4; Quandt (O) d. Stoffel (C) 6-1, 6-3; Semi-finals—Peacock (T) d. Vech (O) 6-1, 6-1; Quandt (O) d. Morris (A) 7-5, 6-2.

Finals—Quandt (O) d. Peacock (T) 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Hubbell Troubles Guessers Carl's Screw-Ball Hard to Call Behind the Plate

LEVINSKY BEGAN AS AMATEUR

BY STUART CAMERON (United Press Staff Editor)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Putting the sports shot here and there: Umpire Dolly Stark rates Carl Hubbell of the Giants as the hardest pitcher to work with.

Hubbell's screw ball aimed at the corners calls for plenty of concentration. A big league umpire makes more than 200 decisions a game, Stark believes.

"Most of the decisions are right, too," he says. "I've seen Helen Wille Moody won't play with the Wightman Cup team this year. That back injury is still bothering her. She may play in the Nationals, but doesn't know for sure, yet."

Gene Sarazen would rather pilot an airplane than play golf. "Golf is work, and flying's fun," according to Gene.

Jack McAuliffe "knows" that Primo Carnera will keep his title and too tough for Max Baer to hurt. Some turf experts who would not even start the Kentucky Derby are now rooting for the gal.

King Levinsky never won a medal as an amateur boxer so he decided he ought to turn pro.

Walter Hagen went down to the hope...

Tommy Gorman, who quit as manager of the champion Black Hawk, slated for a berth with the Montreal Maroons, probably as managing director.

Manhattan college is going in for rowing in a serious way. But it doesn't cost much. The rowers fashioned their own boat house out of an abandoned barge.

It's equipped with electric lights and contains a radio. There are 75 bookies at Jamaica and each one pays the state daily fees of one penny for the state daily which gives the taxpayers some hope...

NEW YORK, April 23.—(UP)—The baseball season's first Sunday jerked the champion Giants out of the National league's top berth for the first time since last June 9.

It produced a new record for the year: an unexpectedly large turnout at Philadelphia to usher Sunday at Philadelphia to usher Sunday at Philadelphia play into Pennsylvania, and 13 more four-baggers to boost the "live" ball home run list.

Bill McKechnie's Braves shaded the Giants, 6 to 5, snapping their winning streak at five straight. This first New York defeat dropped the champions behind the Cubs, only unbeaten club in the majors.

Before the largest crowd ever to see an American league game in Boston, nearly 46,000, the Yankees walloped the Red Sox, 8 to 1. Ben Chapman led the Yank attack with four hits in five tries, including a homer. He accounted for five runs.

Another unexpectedly large crowd of 20,306 at Philadelphia saw the Senators nose out the Athletics, 4 to 2. It was the first Sunday ball game ever played in Pennsylvania. Washington got in the ninth on singles by Manu and Cronin and Schulte's long fly.

The winner, which should be Mountain Meadows, will meet the San Diego County champions April 30.

Country club sweepstakes winners: Class A—L. W. Bemis, Van Pomeroy, R. O. Winkler and W. H. Spurgeon, two up, tied for first. Class B—A. A. Beard, three up, first; George Parker, one down, second; R. G. Cartwright, Frank Briggs and Dr. W. S. Wallace, two down, tied for third.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(UP)—A memorial in honor of the late John J. McGraw will be erected this summer at the Polo grounds where he led his team to 10 pennants and three world championships during 30 years at the helm.

MISSIONARY IS DINNER GUEST IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, April 23.—As a welcome home for Miss Irma Moody, a community dinner, followed by speaking and community singing, was held Friday evening in the dining room of the Roosevelt school building.

The dinner tables were centered with white sweet peas and pansies. Miss Moody, daughter of Mrs. Mary Moody of South Espanada street, recently returned from Honduras, where she has been engaged in missionary work for the past five years. She served in the capacity of superintendent of the Friends mission in Honduras. At the close of the dinner hour the Rev. Joseph Reece, of Yorba Linda, led in group singing.

Short addresses were given by Rev. James C. Flek, pastor of the El Modena Friends church; the Rev. T. J. Coburn and the Rev. Joseph Reece, former pastors; Mrs. Dorothy Cammack, Mrs. Lou Roberts and Miss Grace Lentz, returned missionaries; Mrs. Wilhelmina Jones, president of the local society and Mrs. Mary Moody. Miss Irma Moody responded.

Chester Stearns was general chairman, with Alvin Stanfield acting as master of ceremonies.

NEED OF CORRECTING ABUSES SURROUNDING FARM WORKERS CITED IN SERMON ON "MERCY"

"The most significant part of the recently published report of the state commission investigating farm labor troubles in California is that which advises the necessity of correcting the abuses and the unholy living conditions surrounding our agricultural laborers," was the declaration of Dr. James Edwin Dunning in his sermon yesterday morning at the Orange First Methodist church. He commended as vital the following two suggestions as reported by the press.

1. That agriculture set its house in order by "a self-imposed housecleaning to remove any conditions that might be seized upon for radical propaganda."

2. That subsistence homesteads be developed to support resident farm labor in some areas and that central labor camps be established to provide proper living conditions for floating labor. The important words here, Dr. Dunning declared, are "proper living conditions."

Dr. Dunning further asserted it is his judgment that "the deliberate incitement to hysteria by speakers and the press, by denouncing as a 'red,' 'radical,' or 'communist,' those who are motivated by the spirit of mercy and justice for all their brothers, is to dangerously warp the public mind, and to prepare the public for the use of brute force as the answer to the propaganda of all the so-called radicals combined."

Dr. Dunning's sermon was on "The Divine Quality of Mercy" and was a discussion of the beatitude, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." He said: "Righteousness without mercy produces an indigestion countenance; it is a hard, unlovely, Pharisaical, sour-visaged thing. Mercy is justice in tears."

"Our highest conception of God is of a merciful God. The prophet Hosea rises to the highest point in the old testament idea of God in his discovery of a God of unlimited compassion and tender mercy, forgiving and restoring his rebellious children, saying, 'I desire mercy, and not sacrifice.' This expression from Hosea, Jesus made

KEEP FAITH IN GOD, EL MODENA PASTOR URGES

EL MODENA, April 23.—As a text Sunday evening at El Modena Friends church, the pastor, the Rev. James C. Flek, used the words found in II Cor. 11:3, "But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." He said in part:

His Holy Spirit tries His best to keep us. That is why God reveals Himself to us from time to time. We get in close places and we cry to Him and He makes use of every opportunity. The enemy does everything he can to destroy our faith. Paul was conscious of the fact that they were turning away and it hurt. He couldn't defend himself. Don't lose your confidence in God; keep in touch with Him. It hurts for a father or mother, when they are trying to train their children in the right way, when evil comes and destroys their confidence; generally because their parents object to their doing certain things.

"These evil companions will decoy you away from your homes, and when you get in a close place, they will turn back. Your father and friends will come and pick you up after all these have gone. They will talk nice until a young man falls into their trap and then they don't care."

"Eve was in the garden and was perfectly contented, for God was taking care of her, but the enemy destroyed her faith, and the next thing we know she was cast out. There is a garden where we can meditate and enjoy fellowship with God. What shall we do or what shall I do if we lose our faith? If we lose faith in God we lose our hope and confidence. When you are humbly walking with God and waiting on God and your faith is destroyed, there is nothing left. The Holy Spirit is not in the business of going around and telling you this and that. While Christ is dealing, the enemy is dealing, too. When we find fault with others we do not succeed any better. Our neighbor and all of us, have a battle to fight. Let us be careful lest the enemy corrupt us as he did Eve."

Just as pure as that glass of water—

Your town and city authorities see to it that the water you drink is pure.

And the people who make Chesterfield cigarettes see to it that everything that goes into them is just what it ought to be.

All that Science knows about or money can buy is used to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

An eminent Scientist has said, "Chesterfields are as pure as the water you drink."

Y CAMPERS TO SEEKING DEITY.
HOLD RALLY AT WE SEE CHRIST.
ANAHEIM PARK STATES PASTOR

Celebrating half a century of Y. M. C. A. summer camps in America, 27 years in Orange county, and the tenth anniversary of the establishment of Oseola, the present Orange county Y camp, the Y. M. C. A. of Orange county will join in a great camp rally to be held at the Anaheim city park on the evening of May 5.

All boys and men who have ever attended a Y. M. C. A. camp either in Orange county or elsewhere are invited to enjoy this event, which will be in the nature of a father and son gathering, although there is no requirement that boys bring their fathers in order to attend. The invitation is further extended to boys who are interested in attending the camp at Oseola during the coming summer season. J. E. Wilbur, of Orange, is in charge of the program of entertainment, which will include a barbecue supper, prepared under the direction of A. J. Raitt of Fullerton, and a lively "campfire" program, typical of campers and camp life. Honors will be accorded to the campers with the longest records of camp attendance, and to those who attended the earliest camps, as well as to others who have distinguished themselves in the Y. M. C. A. summer camp during the past years.

Tickets for the rally will be sold at a very small cost at the local Y. M. C. A. office, and boys and men who wish to attend are advised to secure tickets at an early date.

It is reported to the Automobile Club of Southern California. Field day exercises by approximately 5000 school children at Riverside's arroyo stadium, a naval orange golf tournament on Friday and Saturday mornings at the Victoria club, an historical pageant parade and the annual naval orange dinner at Mission Inn for orange growers and their friends will be highlights of the day.

Couple Released
After 42 Days Of Year's Sentence

After serving 42 days of a year's sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl, Denver "Tex" King and his wife, Vivian, youthful Santa Ana couple, were released on condition of future good behavior Saturday when Superior Judge James L. Allen modified terms of their probation by suspending the balance of the jail sentence.

They had, however, served a number of weeks in jail while awaiting trial. The probationary period is five years.

The girl delinquent in the case, it was shown at the trial, had remained overnight in their home with Carl Blythe, Santa Ana youth, who

PAINT THAT COLORS PREACHERS
'RED' COMES FROM TEACHINGS OF JESUS, PASTOR DECLARES

"It is an honor, today, for a preacher to be labeled 'red' by the defenders of things-as-they-are," said the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, in his sermon at the First Congregational Church yesterday morning, on the topic, "The Paint That Colors Preachers 'Red'." It is an evidence," said the Rev. Mr. Schrock, "that the preacher has studied his Bible and is preaching the word of God that has come to him from that Bible."

"We love to call each other names—to put labels on each other. We don't like people who are different and, particularly, we don't like people who disturb things that are. We seem to think that we can get rid of these people by attaching a label to them. The first followers of Jesus were called Christians—label that would disgrace them. Our Pilgrim Fathers were called Separatists, as though that would get rid of them. The followers of Wesley were scornfully labelled Methodists."

"It is quite evident that an evil condition cannot be covered up by labelling and labelling the person who calls attention to that evil condition and dares to suggest that a better condition might be brought about."

"The favorite label today is 'red.' Anyone who dares to call attention to the distressing condition of today is immediately labelled a radical and a 'red.' The preachers seem to be particularly honored in this respect. They are accused of deserting the simple gospel and are in league with Moscow."

"The church to whom he is here writing, the church at Colosse, had developed a number of errors which had drifted into legalism which eliminated the love principle and placed values on treasures that were not in Christ. The letter was to correct the errors and thus the statement of the text, 'In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.'"

"If we look in the first chapter of the letter we find the features of this great system which constitutes the treasures. 'We first find that Christ is the Image of the invisible God.' Had not the entire world been on a quest to discover the invisible God and had they not all miserably failed? And here we are at the end of that great hunt and find in Christ the God for whom we have long sought."

"Christ said to Philip, who had just requested to be shown God, 'Philip, have I been so long a time with you and have you not known Me? He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.' Then the next treasure we find in Him is that He created all things and we are introduced to the hand that shaped us and made the worlds. We are also told here that He existed before all these things, which stamps on Christ the deity over which there is so much discussion today."

"But perhaps the greatest nugget of truth is contained in the fact that He is the head of the body of which we are part. This not only informs us of His marvelous wealth but relates us to Him in such a way that we become at once partakers of the hidden treasures referred to in the text."

subsequently was granted probation, with a jail sentence attached. A liquor party had laid the foundation for the offense, it was shown, the liquor being brought by one of the guests.

BAN AUTOMATIC
GAS VENDING MACHINES HERE

The doubtful privilege of dropping a half-dollar in the slot of self-delivery gasoline vending machines, and then seeing what, if anything, might come out of it, will be henceforth denied Orange county motorists, according to word from the state department of agriculture in Sacramento today. Apparently operating on the assumption that the thrill of suspense while waiting to see what the half-dollar will produce from the machine scarcely makes up for the frequent experience of getting something not expected, or getting nothing at all, the state authorities have condemned all such machines, which were being operated in Los Angeles and Orange counties, according to J. S. Casey, chief of the division of weights and measures.

D. W. Tubbs, Orange county agricultural commissioner, said today that he had not yet received Casey's official order, but already had seized all but one such machine in Orange county, having found all of them defective in one form or another. Not only were the gallon containers delivered to the customer short in measure, to the extent of six or eight ounces, but the advertised brand of gasoline or oil marked upon them was not the brand they contained, said Tubbs.

And, sometimes, customers who had playfully tried to beat the game by playing the machines with lead slugs, jammed the mechanism so that the next customer, who dropped in a genuine half-dollar, got nothing for it.

Manufacturers of the machines have been ordered to recall them. Casey stated, saying that the machines had never been offered to his department for inspection or approval. Gasoline, in California, he said, can only be dispensed legally through a measuring device and at all times by an operator of such device.

PINE BLISTER WAR
WASHINGTON, D. C.—(UP)—Owners of current and gooseberry bushes in those districts where they are dangerous to white pine trees have, with little exception, consented to sacrifice them.

This story concerns the life of a wealthy prince who has been held down all his life, but is given one year to attend Heidelberg University, where he falls in love with a waitress, Cathie. Before that year terminates the prince is

NAME LEADERS FOR PLANS ON CATHOLIC WEEK

Committees in counties adjacent to Los Angeles were named today in anticipation of Catholic Action week from April 29 to May 3. Considerable preliminary work has been done throughout the diocese by Bishop John J. Cantwell and his executive committee.

For Orange county, the Rev. Gerald Lebane, of Fullerton, was named as chairman of the clerical committee, while Mrs. Thomas L. McPadden, of Placentia, was named head of the lay group.

Representatives of diocesan and parish organizations from all of these counties are said to be taking an active part in the detailed work of preparation for the session at the Ambassador Hotel, which will include a Catholic conference on industrial problems, a conference of the diocesan council of Catholic women, a rural life conference and various sessions of diocesan organizations devoted to social and educational work.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

COLOR IS THE GAY NOTE ON MANY SPRING FROCKS

PATTERN 1825

By ANNE ADAMS

This Spring is a season of color! Accordingly Fashion has launched her new collections in a rainbow of color and striking color effects. Here's one of our favorite models—and a stunning example of this trend. It was fashioned of skipper blue silk splashed with white flowers of conventional motif, and white was used for the smart yoke. Simplicity of line prevails—most essential when relying on color for effect. When making your frock, choose your most becoming tones, and you'll be delighted with the picture you'll make. Cottons, of course, would be equally delightful.

Pattern 1825 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 7-8 yard contrasting fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Send FIFTY CENTS (15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred)) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

THE LATEST EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK features all the best seasonal styles for adults and children. Send for your copy of this interesting, helpful book and be the first to know the latest in fashion. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTY CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. ## Young Married Couple Enjoying Southland Honeymoon

With only a few days' honeymoon possible to them in the short period before James Burton Stephenson Jr. must join his Conservation company near Priest River, Idaho, Mr. Stephenson and his bride, the former Mrs. Gladys Dawson of Descanso, spent yesterday in Santa Ana as guests of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. West, 726 Kilson drive, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, 1622 North Broadway.

The marriage of Mr. Stephenson and Mrs. Dawson was a very quiet event of Saturday, April 2, in Yuma, Ariz. The young couple were accompanied to the little Arizona city by Mr. Stephenson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Burton Stephenson of Descanso, formerly of Santa Ana. For the ceremony, the bride chose a frock in extreme simplicity, fashioned of blue and white printed silk and worn with white dress accessories.

The senior Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson returned directly to their Descanso home, while the newly wedded pair motored to Los Angeles, coming down to Santa Ana yesterday morning and then later continuing on their leisurely drive to San Diego. Mr. Stephenson will leave in a week's time for Idaho where he is forestry expert with his CCC unit. His bride, a teacher in the Descanso school, will complete the term and then join her husband in Idaho. She had her training at San Diego State Teachers' college, and Mr. Stephenson graduated from University of Montana, at Missoula, Mont.

Marlyn Lee and Gerald Bert Hayes, children of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford B. Hayes, who have been ill for the past two weeks, are improved. Mrs. Dwight T. Hayden, 215 Myrtle street, spent several days recently visiting with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thome, in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weed and Clarence Nichols of Los Angeles, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Andrews.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
1-2 cup fresh strawberries or 1 sliced orange
2 thin slices whole wheat toast
1 tsp. butter for toast and
1 tsp. sugar for berries
1 cup coffee with
1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total, 320.

While strolling through the drapery department of one of the big stores I saw some simple and simply stunning, drapes Mrs. Clever Fingers could make for her living room. The material was 54-inch wide tan fabric similar to monk's cloth. The drapes were made full width and floor length, lined with tan sateen, and hung to pointed poles with big wooden rings.

Diagonally across the curtains very heavy rope cord in a dull blue had been applied, the spacing 12 or 15 inches apart. The cord did not run down the edges in the conventional finish, a wide band did that, the cord simply supplied a gorgeous note of color. The ends were finished by being tucked under and whipped flat to the fabric.

Do you know that crisp hot waffles served with fresh crushed strawberries and a spoonful of whipped cream make a sum'bus dessert? When you have too much waffle batter put it in a quart jar, cap with waxed paper, and use, either for more waffles, or for the suggested emergency dessert.

Nearly every baking powder in use today has a double action element making it possible to keep batters under modern refrigeration methods. But for safety's sake, stir a scant teaspoonful with 7 tablespoonful of water, add to the batter with a tiny bit more flour.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Butterscotch Cookies
3-1/2 cups flour
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1-4 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
2 tbsps. sweet cream
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup coconut
1 cup dates, chopped fine.

—Contributed recipe.
Sift together all dry ingredients, return to the sifter and have conveniently at hand Cream shortening and sugar until like whipped cream in texture. This can only be done by whipping the creamed mixture after preliminary spoon mixing. Beat eggs and cream and add to the creamed part, alternating the dry material in mixing.

Add vanilla, coconut and chopped dates during the mixing, before the dough becomes so heavy that easy mixing is impossible. Turn onto the board, pat in shape, form in a ball, wrap in waxed paper, and put in the refrigerator over night, or for 4 hours of rest, reaching temperature. Slice thin and bake in a moderate oven.

There are close to 7000 stories in this recipe, practically all of them energy makers. And energy, y'know, spells life. It's when you overeat the limit in such foods. For children and adults needing sustaining foods, these delicious little cakes have a definite mission in life.

Tuesday: Macaroni Mousse, a main dish recipe which can be cooked before the day gets hot, and re-steamed for dinner.

ANN MEREDITH.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"This broom that holds you, Tinymites, has had a lot of funny flights," said Mother Goose. "I guess that I have traveled everywhere."

"It is a magic broom, you see. It's always glad to carry me. All I need do is hop aboard to get a trip through air."

Then Coppy said, "Well, just where are we bound for now? Is it real far, and will we meet strange little folks we've never met before?"

"Of course you know we love to play with real nice friends throughout the day. We've often met strange people, but we're ready for some more."

"Don't worry, lad," said Mother Goose. "Not far from here I'll turn you loose, and then you'll get a lot of thrills. I'm positive of that."

Just then wee Duncy shouted, "Hey! This must be my unlucky day. A great big puff of wind came by and carried off my hat." Old Mother Goose cried, "Dear, oh dear! Why, I can see your hat from here. It's falling toward the earth, but we will catch it ere it lands."

The big broom then swooped toward the ground, and suddenly it swerved around. "We're coming close," cried Goldy. "Everyone hold out his hands."

Soon little Scouty reached right out and grabbed the hat. Then came a shout from all the other Tinymites. "You're a clever lad," said one.

No more did the big broom sail round. Instead, it landed on the ground. "All hop off," cried old Mother Goose. "We're ready for some fun."

"Just look ahead! You'll see a gate," The Tinymites did, and one cried, "Great! The sign reads 'Mother Goose Land.' Gee! Can we all go inside?"

"Of course you can," came the reply. "I planned on coming here. That's why I picked you all up in the air and took you for a ride."

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

In the boom period of the late '20's, Professor Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology made a speech which echoed around the country. Giving advice to a graduating class, he urged the young men to be snobs. He further advised them, if they were wise, to marry the boss's daughter rather than some poor girl who could bring them nothing at best but good looks or a cultured mind.

The speech was widely quoted, and generally criticized; and the professor qualified his statements to a degree which made them appear somewhat more reasonable. For a time, however, the professor was the "big noise" in the east. Every woman's club, every business organization and every dinner club sought him out for guest speaker.

The professor had been forgotten; but recently he has again come into the spotlight. He has entirely reversed his position. He now advised young men to marry a stenographer. The stenographer has a job, and that for a young man just leaving college without a job in sight is a sheet anchor in the wind. "Don't marry the boss's daughter," he says; "they're all broke; they can no longer help you to a job or a living."

Things have changed since the collapse of 1929. Men who thought they were rich are "down and out." Their big estates are closed up; their big houses are boarded up and locked; they have taken apartments in a hotel, or gone to live with the children. Many of them, like Insull and many lesser lights of the boom era, are under indictments by grand juries. Some of them have "gone over the road."

Canon Mozely, a great preacher of the Anglican church of the last century, preached a notable sermon on "The Reversal of Human Judgment," in which he pictured what might happen to some of the fortunate ones of earth when the "big book" should be opened on the judgment day. The experiences of the last five years make it evident that such reversals are not deferred till the judgment day. A financial agent for an eastern college made the statement recently that the oldsters can no longer give to charities and benevolences. Their money, he said, was gone. The youngsters are beginning to make the money, but they have not as yet learned to give.

The old Hebrews held a year of jubilee every 50 years. In that year the title to all land, which then was the basic source of wealth, reverted to the old owners. We have no such year of jubilee; but it appears that the principle is still at work through an unwritten law in the 20th century A. D. Professor Rogers' change of front is evidence of that.

IT DID NOT HAPPEN AGAIN

This week, near Elyria, Ohio, there was a horrible accident on the highway. An automobile bus collided, head on, with a truck, while trying to pass another truck which was stalled along the road. Six people were killed and many more were injured who would have died had it not been that the Elyria Memorial Hospital was equipped for them.

The hospital was the outgrowth from another accident at almost exactly the same place many years ago. In that accident, which was a street car accident, a young lad lost his legs and died because Elyria at that time did not have hospital facilities for the care of victims of that accident. The father of that boy dedicated his service and his money to the building of a hospital in Elyria. He was known in the community as "Daddy" Allen. The work and facilities of that hospital for the care of crippled children is known throughout the land. The hospital has served the community well for many years. It has stood there functioning in its capacity as a hospital, and ready in an emergency such as the one in which the young Allen lost his life, to care for the injured. And because that hospital was there, the realization of a father's will and determination to dedicate such an institution to the memory of his son, the injured were cared for in this last accident and lives were saved which would otherwise have been lost.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK THREATENED WITH DEATH

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, that noble woman, sang at a concert of the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League in New York, in spite of the fact that she had been threatened that she would be shot if she sang there. "I am not afraid," she said, "They are so dumb. I believe in God. I don't care what you call Him. I respect all religions. I can't see why this stupid fight."

Mme. Schumann-Heink becomes more noble every day that she lives. Her reactions are sound. Her courage is phenomenal. Her mind thinks straight. Her reactions to this threat are perfect. She had the courage to go on and make her appearance. She knew exactly how to classify such threats. She expressed her opinion that the individual has some inalienable rights which she champions him in holding.

That Largest Telescope

From a mountain top in California, some four years hence, scientists will use it to "interview" the depths of space more than one billion light years distant.

So writes Dr. William Joseph Showalter of what is to be the most powerful telescope man has ever known, the one for which the giant reflector is now gradually cooling. But a few days ago twenty tons of molten blue-white glass were poured into a brick mold in the presence of leading astronomers, technicians and engineers. Very slowly its temperature will be allowed to lower until all but a year has passed.

When the glass is finally cooled, ground into a disk 200 inches in diameter and 26 inches deep, and coated with a mirror surface that much of the huge telescope which will be moved to California will be ready. Dr. Showalter describes a telescope in some common terms:

"We cannot regulate the size of the pupils of our eyes at will," he says, "but we can build an artificial pupil that serves the same purpose. Men call such artificial pupils telescopes. Imagine trying to fill a narrow-necked bottle by catching raindrops as they fall. Rain falls all around, but only a few drops go into the bottle. Put a wide-mouthed funnel into the neck of the bottle and see how much more water you can catch. The telescope is merely a light-funnel, wide-mouthed enough to catch many rays of light and to bring them so close together that they can all enter the pupil of the human eye."

Germany's Loss

The newspaper world hears with sentimental regret that the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, after an honorable career of 230 years, has suspended publication. It was once a great old newspaper, holding in Germany a position comparable to that held by the Manchester Guardian in England. In fact, it was in many respects the same sort of paper—staunchly democratic, well written and touched with a humor that irradiated its pages.

However, it is hardly correct to say that Germany has lost the Vossische Zeitung. It is rather the newspaper that has lost Germany. The Nation that it served and supported no longer exists, so it was time for the journal to die. There were at least four reasons why this newspaper could not possibly live in Nazi Germany, and their mere recital is enough to account for its elimination. First, it was democratic. Second, it had humor. Third, it had sense. And, finally, for the last twenty years it had been owned by Jews.

May it rest in peace.

Demotion Among the Stars

It has become noised about among the stars that Arcturus, prominent last year for its part in lighting the grounds at Chicago's fair, has been forced by circumstances to take a lesser job this year. Last summer it had the glory of dispersing rays which lit the whole fair grounds and opened the gala first night with a great fanfare of publicity. This year Arcturus will merely light a beacon each night, quite unostentatiously. For the grand opening, an earbelling named Roosevelt will punch an electric button and in the unteeth of a second it will be accomplished. There will be none of that soaring of the imagination required to appreciate the fact that a light beam took forty years to get down to earth for the grand opening.

There is now a 1,000,000-light year sigh from Arcturus that will be reverberating about celestial regions long after the Chicago fair has passed from the memory of mankind. How the mighty Arcturus has fallen!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

BEWARE OF SPRING

When the night of March is over,
When the wind no more blows keen,
And the blue grass and the clover
Clothe the earth with tender green,
When the brooks are loudly singing
As their crumbling banks they fret
And the birds are homeward winging
Has bright Spring arrived? Not yet!

Nature is a gay deceiver
With her pitfalls, traps and snares;
Ask the badger and the beaver:
Both still linger in their lairs.
Skies may be divinely sunny,
Early violets may smile,
But the bees won't hunt for honey
For a long and weary while.

For before the homing swallow
Has a chance to cheep a cheep,
Over hill and over hollow
Snows may gather, ankle deep.
Blossoms are stricken, buds are blighted,
Robins sit with folded wings,
And the little frogs, affrighted,
Stolidly refuse to sing.

Spring is a delightful season,
Still we must admit the facts,
And there is no sense nor reason
In the way she often acts.
She may smile or she may bluster,
She may bring us bane or boon,
But it's wiser not to trust her
Till about the first of June.

EASY

No wonder the birds have no difficulty in getting back home from the South. They don't have to try to make sense out of time-tables.

GIVE IT A HAND

Whatever you may say against the old alphabet, you'll have to admit that without it there couldn't have been any recovery.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

The New Deal can't last eight years. There isn't that much space in Washington to file the records and reports. There is no perfect form of government. All rules seem unfair if you can't win. The world doesn't grow worse. Age just brings you more ability to see the brass under the gold plating. Two things that encourage them to quit school and marry are love and the prospect of flunking.

THE OLD-SCHOOL CARS GAVE YOU A BETTER BREAK. THEY RATTLED BEFORE THEY STRUCK.

"Three hots and a flop," says the wife of the Reynolds millions, is a Southern expression. And you should hear the old Southern aristocrat murmur: "Nerts!"

Repentance: The uneasy feeling that stops when you decide that nobody knows about it.

AMERICANISM: Providing the world's greatest market for sugar; importing it fully refined so our refinery workers will lose their jobs.

The woodpeckers get along without a C. W. A., but they peck wood without waiting to be hired. Alas! When all of us are government-managed, we'll still have to manage our own monkeying with the stock market.

MANY A MAN GETS CREDIT FOR HIGH AMBITION WHEN HE'S JUST TRYING TO MAKE THE GIRL SORRY SHE MARRIED THE OTHER FELLOW.

That is, a wooden pistol will cow a jailer who has just discovered a roll of bills in his hand. But even the rugged individualist refrained from individualizing until he saw what the Joneses were doing.

The English are funny. They find the proof of a gentleman in him instead of his bank account. The ideal tax is one that takes the rich man's gains and yet leaves him hopeful enough to gain some more.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I LIKE MY NEW DRESS MUCH BETTER," SAID SHE. "SINCE EVERY WOMAN I KNOW HAS ONE LIKE IT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

ARE WE TO HAVE A DICTATOR?

I have been surprised during the last week as I have gone from city to city of the Pacific Coast to find the sweeping extent of serious thought regarding the possibility of a dictator in the United States.

In every city I have been asked by the reporters: What do you think of the possibility of a dictator in the United States, and, if one should arise, would he be a blessing or a menace?

Anything, of course, is possible in a period of political distraction, economic dislocation, and social disarray as profound as this through which we have been passing, and the show of strength by the dictators of Europe plays powerfully upon the minds of the disillusioned and uncritical.

But I doubt that we shall see a dictator in the United States, I hope not.

I am not at all enamored of the prospect of having my own and the nation's life ordered about by even an oligarchy of bureaucrats from Washington. I should not like to see the intricate economic life of the United States at the mercy of the quality of intelligence American politics has, by and large, seemed able to recruit during the last quarter century. I doubt the wisdom of having politically elected persons dictate in detail the procedures of American business and industry. And this doubt survives even the muddling mismanagement of the nation's enterprise by many of the leaders of business, industry and finance in the decade before 1929.

The fact is, however, that, in the United States, as in Europe, parliamentary democracy is not adapted to the effective administration of a vast, complex and swiftly moving national life, however admirably it may be suited to the supervision of a national life that is small in scale, simple in relationships and slow in tempo. If, therefore, we want to lay the ghost of dictatorship we must revamp democracy for service in a national life that is vast, complex and swiftly moving.

This revamping need not be of a revolutionary nature. It requires I think, little more than a re-adjustment of the relation between the executive and legislative branches of government. We must, as I have contended again and again, stop the inept nosing of legislators into the intricate business of administration. We must restrict our state legislatures and congress to the charting of broad paths of policy and the critical checking up on the results of administration. And we must have wider discretion and greater detailed power in the hands of the executive.

The executive power is always in the spotlight. We can, when it goes haywire, check it more surely than we can at the headhunted power of the legislature.

We must adjust democracy in order to avoid dictatorship. Copyright, 1934, McClure Newspaper Syn.

TWO EXTREMES

"Charles, come in. Come along. Throw that stick away. How many times have I told you not to hit other boys?"

"They were chasing me and making fun of me."

"All right. Fight back but no sticks. Only a coward picks up sticks. Why were you chasing you? It seems to me you are forever carrying a chip on your shoulder. There. Stay in the house and maybe we can have some peace."

But there was no peace. In a few minutes there was a complaint from the kitchen. Charles had chased the poor cat and it had jumped up on the table and the pan of batter Clara was mixing and would Mrs. Baker please keep him out of the kitchen? She would. If she could.

Charles was the kind of child who was always on the defensive. He wanted to ask Clara for a cake and the cat, a very big fluffy creature was sitting staring at him, barring his way. He was afraid of her so he stamped his foot, made a doglike sound and poked at her with a fly swatter. Nobody thought he was afraid. Such boldness as he displayed was not evidence of fear to those who had to put up with the results. Charles was sent off to a school for training.

How is Charles getting on? I see he is back home."

"Home for a vacation. They get three weeks at Christmas and three weeks at Easter. I suppose to give the school a rest. You can't blame them. He's greatly improved. Really, no trouble at all."

That was interesting and invited investigation. Charles was found hunched up in a big chair in the corner of the living room. He made no sign of recognition as the visitor entered and sat close by him. He had a book, but he wasn't reading. "Good afternoon," he said in response to a hearty, "How do you do, old man."

"Nice afternoon. You ought to be out playing on an afternoon like this." No answer. "Or perhaps you'd like to go down to the corse and see what's going on there? I saw a circus coming in there yesterday."

No sudden light shone in the dull eyes. He shook his head and turned to the neglected book, pretending to look at the pictures but the book was open at the table of contents and he did not turn the pages.

"He is so much better," said his mother later on in the afternoon when the child had been taken in the car to meet his father. "So much quieter. You've no idea. He doesn't ask to go out. He isn't interested at all in the neighborhood boys. He used to be fighting with them all the time. You wouldn't know he was in the house. Most remarkable change. I'd really like to know how they accomplished it."

So would I. I'd like to know so I could avoid doing it. There is little difference between the effects of fear that shows itself in bluster and bullying and the fear that beats a retreat. The healthy boy and girl are interested in everything that goes on. They are noisy and troublesome. They get in the way and have to be disciplined. They are joyous, stimulating and annoying members of the family. Retreat may mean household peace, for a time. In the end it means defeat for the child and sorrow for the parents.
